Project On The Up And Up

'High Rise' Takes Shape

By ROBERT POPP

January's unseasonably mild weather and lack of snow meant bad news for kids waiting to try out Christmas sleds, but they gave a big assist to the Builders Co., Inc., of Youngstown as it pushed ahead rapidly on erecting a $2 million high rise apartment in West End for the Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority.

The work of pouring concrete walls and floors for the towering structure has passed the seventh story level, and forms are being placed for the eighth floor. Installation of the masonry facing also is moving ahead quickly, thanks to the warm weather, and the job will be finished through the third floor level by Feb. 14.

Dave Porter, superintendent for the general contractor, is like all his fellows in the heavy construction business — superstitious about making an estimate about how far ahead of schedule a job is moving for fear some hoodoo will jinx the work and upset his proud pronouncement.

But he smiles contentedly when he says: "We're doing very well." He concedes the mild weather has been a big factor in the rapid progress of the job.

HOW WELL the job is going is obvious from the height of the structure, which looms up in view of motorists on the Freeway and the W. 8th St. stretch through West End. It appears mammoth now, but it will rise to 11 floors, plus an elevator machinery penthouse on the roof, when it attains its full height.

Huge areas of brilliant yellow show up now on the exterior walls. Porter explained they're plastic tarpaulins used to shield the weather from the new brick work that forms the facing. The brick layers work behind the tarps. Gas heaters are used to prevent the new mortar from freezing.

About 60 men are at work at present on various phases of construction of the 130-unit complex, which will provide housing for the elderly.

During Shaw Trial

Witness Says JFK Slaying Was Discussed By Group

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Charles I. Spiesel, a New York accountant, has testified that he attended a party given by Clay Shaw at which an assassination of President John F. Kennedy was discussed.

Then in 50 minutes of cross examination in the Shaw conspiracy trial Friday, defense lawyer F. Irvin Dymond established that Spiesel:

— Filed suit claiming New York police hypnotized him, tortured him mentally, forced him to give up his practice as a accountant.

— Sued a psychiatrist and the City of New York claiming $16 million damages on the ground that he had been hypnotized in order to extract confidential information from him.

— "Isn't it a fact that you just recently were subjected to a Communist conspiracy, people following you, your telephone tapped?" asked Dymond.

"Well," said Spiesel hesitantly, "not recently."

Those complications happened in 1962, '63 and '64 when he was held under hypnosis "from time to time," he said.

Shaw is accused of conspiring with Lee Harvey Oswald and others to assassinate President Kennedy.

In June 1963, Spiesel testified earlier, he met David W. Ferrie in a French Quarter bar and was taken to a party where Ferrie introduced the host as Clay Shaw.

The party conversation, said Spiesel, turned to Kennedy — with many of the men present saying the President ought to be killed.

At one point, Shaw asked Ferrie — a former airline pilot — if an assassin could be rescued from dire consequences by being flown out of the country.

"Ferrie hemmed and hawed and said, 'yes,'" said Spiesel.

Ferrie, who died at his New Orleans apartment in 1967, also was named a co-conspirator by Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison. Oswald is dead, too — slain by Jack Ruby in Dallas police headquarters two days after the Nov. 22, 1963, assassination in Dallas.

The Warren Commission named Oswald as the assassin and said he worked alone, with no credible evidence of a conspiracy.

Checks Issued Again After Appointment

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Issuance of long - overdue compensation checks began Friday following appointment of Fred L. Davis Jr. as state Workmen's Compensation Commissioner.

Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. announced the appointment of Davis and three other state officials during a news conference Friday at the State Capitol.

Davis, of Parkersburg, fills a post left vacant since Jan. 13 when Cletus B. Handley resigned.

Compensation checks had not been issued since Handley's resignation as the state auditor's office is required by law to have authorization from the commissioner.

Some 5,000 checks were frozen during the interim period.

Decision Due Next Week On Moore Taxes

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — A decision is expected early next week on whether the Democratic majorities of the West Virginia Legislature will support Gov. Arch A. Moore's tax proposals.

Speaker Ivor F. Boiarsky said separate caucuses have been scheduled Monday to discuss the program.

In a closed-door caucus Thursday, House Democrats favored by one vote the Moore program over what Boiarsky later described as a "modified Papke proposal."

Dr. James Papke of Purdue University was the principal author of an extensive West Virginia tax revision study that was introduced as a legislative proposal during the 1967 session.

Kent Webb, regional vice president of Union Carbide Corp., said Friday "certain industries within the state consider the tax problems so serious that they plan to propose that Papke be invited to return to the state at industry's expense."

Papke would be asked to work "with tax experts from government and industry, to develop a tax program that will stabilize the tax structure, to the extent that industry can continue to be competitive as well as plan future expansion and at the same time provide the needed revenues for the governor's program," Webb said.

Italian Communists Begin Week's Parley

BOLOGNA, Italy (AP) — The Italian Communist party, largest in the West, began today a week-long national congress that could result in a younger leadership and a major rift with Moscow.

About 5,000 Communists and leftists were here to attend the 12th National Congress, the first convention by a major Communist party since Soviet tanks rolled into Czechoslovakia six months ago.

Before the congress ends, the party is expected to elect as vice secretary Enrico Berlinguer, who wants a hands-off policy from Moscow.

Nixon Hints No Changes On Mideast

Informed Sources Quoted On Letter Sent To Nasser

By The Associated Press
A message from President Nixon to Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser contains no new proposals for peace in the Middle East, the New York Times said today.

The Times gave these details in Washington as saying the message's noncommittal tone, and Nixon's news conference statements Thursday indicate Nixon's position on a settlement of the Arab-Israeli conflict are not significantly different from the Johnson administration's.

The Times gave these details:

The sources said the tone of the Nixon message sought to convey personal regard for the Egyptian leader. It also stressed in general terms the need for a renewed search for peace.

The message was a reply to a note Nasser sent Jan. 5 in which he congratulated Nixon on winning the presidential election and made an appeal for a more responsive attitude toward Arab views on the Middle East from the new administration.

The sources said the main issue Nasser raised in his note was for a more forthright position by the United States on the withdrawal of Israeli forces from Arab territories occupied during the June 1967 war.

The Johnson administration had taken the position that withdrawal of Israeli forces was covered in a U.N. Security Council resolution intended to serve as a basis for a Middle East peace.

River Yields Man's Body After Leap

The body of Merrill A. Scott, 39, of Hookstown was recovered from the Ohio River at 11:48 a.m. Friday by Chester volunteer firemen about 600 yards downstream from the Newell Bridge.

Scott had leaped from the bridge early Friday morning. Harry Huff of the Chester department pulled the body from the river about 250 feet from the West Virginia shore. John D. Herron, Hancock County coroner, officially ruled death from drowning.

A truck owned by Scott was found parked with its lights on near the middle of the bridge Friday morning. The man's jacket also was located near the truck.

His wife had called Chester police to request officers to stop him if he drove through, pointing out he had threatened to take his life.

Mr. Scott was born in Chester March 10, 1930.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Helen Scott, and two brothers, Clarence R. Scott of Zanesville and Leonard A. Scott of Georgetown RD 2.

Services will be held Monday at 2 p.m. at the Welch Funeral Home in Hookstown by the Rev. A. D. McGaffick of the Chester Free Methodist Church. Burial will be in Mill Creek Hill Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 7 tonight, Sunday afternoon and night.

Reactions Mixed On Crime Report

By The Associated Press
The Pennsylvania Crime Commission's report on organized crime has drawn mixed reviews from law enforcement officials.

If there is a point of agreement, it appears to be that the public plays the leading role in the alleged syndicate's success.

The commission's two-volume report, released Friday after 21 months of investigation, gives a statistical analysis of the state's crime rate.

IN THE section on organized crime, the commission charges there are 142 members of a national syndicate operating in geographical areas of the state. The commission names only the alleged leaders.

Atty. Gen. William C. Sennett, commission chairman, said 95 of the 142 members have criminal records. He said only one is currently in jail and declined comment when asked if the state plans to make more arrests.

Robert W. Duggan, Allegheny County district attorney, disputed the report's link of state or county crime with a national "syndicate."

"The Mafia or Cosa Nostra doesn't have its tentacles in Allegheny County," Duggan said.

He admitted, however, that crime is rampant in the county. "As soon as the public realizes that the little bit they make in the numbers contributes to dope and prostitution; when they realize it we may make some progress. Numbers flourish because the public allows it," he said.

THE REPORT said Allegheny County has 19 members in a "branch headed by John LaRocca of Mcandless Township. LaRocca was named as

Carriers Cut To 4 But Blows Go On

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. 7th Fleet is operating with four instead of five aircraft carriers but informed sources said today this has not affected the intensity of bombing raids on enemy supply lines in Laos.

The fleet had five attack carriers until last month when the Constellation returned to the United States. The nuclear-powered Enterprise was en route to replace the Constellation when explosions ripped through the ship during a bombing exercise and put her out of action for an estimated three months.

The bombing of Laos is a key issue in the war. The Soviet Union warned last week that continued bombing of Laos could hamper the Paris peace talks and cause a spread in the Vietnam war. The U.S. State Department replied that the presence of North Vietnamese troops in Laos violated the 1962 Laotian neutrality agreement and was the cause of the raids.

The 7th Fleet has three carriers in the Tonkin Gulf and South China Sea from which air raids are launched against enemy positions in South Vietnam and Laos. They are the Hancock, Kitty Hawk and Coral Sea.

The fourth carrier is "in the envelope," meaning its identification is classified because it is moving to or from another station.

Vice Adm. William F. Bringle, commander of the 7th Fleet, declined comment on the reduction in strength except to say, "With the kind of dedicated and committed young Americans we have manning our ships, we will continue to meet operational requirements in the western Pacific."

But an informed source said "Even with less carriers we are maintaining the intensity of our strikes over Laos by flying harder and taking fewer breaks from the war."

Company Expects Abandonment Of Well By Monday

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Officials said a runaway oil well was apparently plugged today after spewing a crude oil into the Pacific and onto the California coast.

"We have apparently stopped the leak," said Fritz Springman, spokesman for Union Oil Co., the well's owner. "We are in the abandonment process. The well will be completely abandoned by Monday."

The 12-day-long leak caused damage unofficially estimated at tens of millions of dollars and killed hundreds of birds, the Coast Guard said.

Workmen overnight completed pouring a heavy, cement-like sealant down the ruptured well shaft at 1,500 barrels an hour.

They withdrew the drill pipe and poured 900 sacks of cement from 1,000 to 1,700 feet below the ocean's bottom to make a permanent, solid plug.

"It was awful," said Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, after he made an aerial inspection Friday of the gummy slick oozing over an ocean area 28 miles long by 11 miles wide. Muskie is chairman of a Senate subcommittee on air and water pollution holding hearings into the disastrous leak.

All other drilling operations in the blackened Santa Barbara channel were ordered halted by the federal government Friday.

With calming winds, little new oil flowed onto the white sandy beaches Friday and only light amounts oozed into small boat harbors.

The Ventura marina and Santa Barbara harbor remained black and stenching. The heaviest concentration of oil is six miles offshore of Santa Barbara, around the drilling platform where Union Oil workmen labored to seal the well.

Sheriff Vote Count Slated For Monday

The Hancock County Court of Commissioners will meet Monday at 8 p.m. as a board of canvassers to recount disputed ballots in the sheriff race in line with Tuesday's action by the West Virginia Supreme Court.

The commissioners met Friday night at New Cumberland and requested Republican Ralph Patrick and his staff of deputies to be present Monday, possibly to be sworn in following the recount of disputed ballots in Precinct 32.

If the recount changes the outcome of the election as expected, Patrick will replace Democrat Louis Smoleski, who was declared the winner in the November general election and has served as sheriff the last month.

A challenge filed on behalf of Smoleski of other ballots in other precincts will be heard by the commissioners following the recount.

The Supreme Court ordered the recount after ballots in the Weirton Heights precinct were successfully challenged. The recount Monday night is expected to reverse the outcome of the election giving Patrick a 52-vote countywide victory instead of a 27-vote defeat.

Frank Cuomo, attorney for Patrick, received official notification from the Supreme Court Friday and served the papers on the commissioners.

No Junking, Finch Indicates

Retention Of OEO Looms; Future Mapped At Parley

WASHINGTON (AP) — Welfare Secretary Robert H. Finch has indicated the Nixon administration will keep the embattled Office of Economic Opportunity instead of trying to junk it as many Democrats fear.

Finch, however, made no promise in a broad ranging news conference Friday and indicated there will be an attempt to change the name of some programs or shift them to other agencies.

Finch's comments were made in advance of a meeting of the President's new Urban Affairs Council, called today specifically to hear the health, education and welfare secretary's recommendations on the future of OEO.

"The sense of my colleagues on the council," Finch said, "is not for a total dismantling of OEO."

The secretary also made a reference to a "feeling" on Capitol Hill against dismantling the agency that spearheaded Lyndon Johnson's war on poverty. Many Democratic members of Congress have warned the administration it faces a stiff fight if it tries to tamper too much the Great Society's chief instrument.

Finch said he hoped his recommendations would be made public so "Congress can fight over them."

Certain programs of the OEO came in for severe congressional criticism after hearings last year disclosed that two Chicago street gangs had been the recipient of a $1 million grant in an experimental project.

There were allegations that (TURN to OEO, Page 6)

In Pueblo Inquiry

'Destruct' Setup Marks Hearing

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — When North Korean gunboats first threatened to fire on the SS Pueblo a year ago, she was carrying a reported 600 pounds of secret papers and equipment. When she was seized, about two hours later, the boarding party found some of this intact.

"Whose responsibility is it to see that a ship does not obtain more material than it is able to destroy in a short period?" an admiral on the court of inquiry into the capture asked a Pentagon expert Friday.

"It is the responsibility of the commanding officer... plus to see that he has adequate destruction capabilities aboard," replied Capt. John B. Williams, who was testifying for the chief of naval operations as a specialist in destruction of classified material.

"I believe we all understand that the ultimate responsibility for everything on his ship is the commanding officer's," replied Rear Adm. R.R. Pratt. "But who has the responsibility to see that the commanding officer isn't given an unreasonable task in this regard?"

A. "There is no central agency."

Q. "At the time of the Pueblo was there any system or individual?"

A. "There was an operations order to the commander of Naval Forces Japan for an inspection of each environmental research ship before it goes out on each mission to determine whether it's planning for emergency destruction is feasible and if the means exist."

The commander of Naval Forces in Japan when the Pueblo was captured was Rear Adm. Frank L. Johnson. During his testimony early in the hearing he said his staff gave the Pueblo's destruct capabilities an "informal inspection."

Later, Rear Adm. George Cassell, who was assistant chief of staff for operations for the commander in chief of the Pacific Fleet at the time, testified he didn't think Johnson's office carried out its responsibilities in this regard.

Cmdr. Lloyd Bucher, the ship's skipper, has said that when he requested explosive devices for destroying secret material before the ship sailed on its intelligence mission he was furnished fire axes, sledge hammers, two paper shredders, a small incinerator and weighted bags for jettisoning paper.

Replying to a court question, Williams said the Pueblo's capture prompted the Navy to improve its emergency destruction devices.

Kerneth Roy Wadley, 30, of Beaverton, Ore., the Pueblo's only gunner's mate, took the stand next. He said his men could have had the Pueblo's two 50-caliber machine guns ready to shoot in 5 or 10 minutes, but he felt since the guns lacked protective shields anyone firing them "wouldn't have survived."

"But if I had been called on to man them, I think I would have gone up to man them, yes sir," he said in answer to a question.

Nearly a dozen Pueblo officers and men have testified in public. The Navy said it plans to summon others, perhaps almost half of the 82 survivors. North Korea released the men just before Christmas after 11 months of captivity.

While Bucher was testifying, the court warned him that he was under suspicion of breaking Navy regulations. No one else has received such a warning. The court may recommend anything from a court-martial to medals.

Ohio To Receive Some $3 Million In Drug Accord

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's share of a $120 million national settlement by five major drug manufacturers accused of price-fixing could be the largest sum ever recovered by the state.

Atty. Gen. Paul W. Brown said Ohio should receive between $3 million and $3.5 million from the settlement.

The five firms proposed the $120 million settlement in Washington Thursday, with $100 million to be distributed to state and local government units.

The companies are Charles Pfizer & Co., American Cyanamid, Bristol-Myers, Upjohn and E. R. Squibb Division of Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp.

Cyanamid, Pfizer and Bristol-Myers were convicted by a federal jury of price-fixing of tetracycline and related drugs during a 12-year period through 1966. Upjohn and Squibb were named co-conspirators.

Brown said Ohio is working on plans to distribute its share to state hospitals and institutions, various welfare programs and to private individual consumers who can show legitimate claim.

Girl Convicted In Slaying Case

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Margie Freshwater, the Columbus, Ohio, girl who insisted during her four-day trial that she had been the frightened captive of a sadistic killer, was convicted Friday of first-degree murder.

"I can't believe it," the plumpish, 20-year-old blonde sobbed as Judge Arthur Faquin pronounced a 99-year prison sentence imposed by a jury of 12 men.

Miss Freshwater was convicted of the Dec. 6, 1966, robbery-slaying here of Hillman Robbins, a liquor store clerk. Robbins was shot to death while his hands were lashed behind his back.

The state had sought the death penalty.

The defense had attempted to convince the jury that Miss Freshwater had been the unwilling accomplice of Glenn Nash, and that Nash had forced her to accompany him on a bloody, three-state crime spree.

A Common Pleas Court jury last Feb. 20 convicted the youth of a charge of robbery Oct. 20, 1967, at the Little Diner on Harvey Ave.

The proposal faced heavy opposition by the United Mine Workers Union and the West Virginia Coal Operators Association, Kinsolving said.

A motion to have the committee reconsider the proposal was defeated in a voice vote on the Senate floor.

Nixon, Key Aides Outline Plans For European Trip

KEY BISCAYNE Fla. (AP) — President Nixon settled down in balmy Florida today with his two key foreign policy advisers for a weekend devoted mainly to planning his five-nation European tour.

The President came to his vacation retreat hoping some of the conferences with Secretary of State William P. Rogers and security advisor Henry A. Kissinger could be held out doors beside the ocean.

Leaving Mrs. Nixon in Washington, the president flew to Key Biscayne Friday after a busy official day during which he met with the Cabinet, toured the Commerce Department, conducted some ceremonial business and met with Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the NAACP.

Wilkins had some praise for Nixon, but also said he thought the President could move faster on some racial problems.

If current sunny weather prevails, it is likely the trio will remain at the Presidential retreat until Monday afternoon.

Aides said Nixon would be devoting much of his time to preparation for the European tour that begins two weeks from Sunday. He must brief himself for each stop on points of agreement and potential sources of friction between the United States and the governments whose leaders he will be meeting. His trip will take him to Belgium, England, West Germany, Italy and France, in that order.

Together with Rogers and Kissinger, the new chief executive also was keeping in close touch with efforts to pave the way for four power talks at the United Nations hopefully aimed at promoting a Middle East settlement. These got started Thursday when American and Soviet representatives got together there. A fullscale powwow also would involve Britain and France.

Film Is Seized At Student Study

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Angry students pelted police with snowballs at the University of Notre Dame Friday after plainclothes officers confiscated a film being shown as part of a conference on pornography and censorship.

Student sponsors canceled the six-day conference which was to have ended Monday with a discussion of the question: "Has this entire conference changed your ideas on pornography and censorship?"

Sheriff's officers led by Prosecutor William E. Voor Jr. rushed into Nieuwland Science Hall where about 200 students were waiting to watch a film titled "Kodak Ghost Poem."

Cathy Cecil said police seized the film as she was attempting to hide it under her dress. Miss Cecil, who said she was dragged down stairs by police, is a student at St. Mary's College, adjacent to the 7,200-student all-male Notre Dame. Both are Roman Catholic schools.

Students said that during scuffling in a hall a riot-control chemical was sprayed.

Voor said there were no arrests and no charges filed. He said police were on the campus at the request of the university.

Appointment OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's appointment of Sherman Unger of Cincinnati as general counsel to the Department of Housing and Urban Development was confirmed by the Senate Friday.

Packwood Feels That Nixon Can 'Restore' Dollar

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — It might be because he's the youngest member of the Senate, but Oregon's Robert W. Packwood is an optimist.

The 36-year-old Republican, in Ohio to address the Summit County Lincoln Day Banquet in Akron, thinks the Nixon administration can come up with the answers for many of the nation's problems.

Packwood told newsmen in Columbus Friday night the United States under Nixon's guidance, will stabilize the shaky world monetary situation by restoring confidence in the dollar. He said there is little danger of a worldwide economic crisis now because Nixon has assured the world he will not raise the price of gold.

Packwood, who unseated 24-year incumbent Wayne Morris last November, admitted that the United States will not completely solve its balance-of-payments deficit, and thus its domestic inflation problems, until the huge military expenditures in Vietnam are reduced.

Packwood said a lasting peace in Vietnam is possible, but added the conflict will remain a stalemate "until the South Vietnamese government becomes responsible to the needs of its people."

Kensington Man Gets 1-5 Years

Barnett was returned recently from Lima State Hospital, where psychiatrists found him a psychopathic offender, although not a mentally ill or mentally deficient offender. Judge Sharp said he will have the doctors' reports forwarded to the penitentiary.

Villanova, Kentucky's Green Top Indoor Meet

NEW YORK (AP) — An awe-some pack of Wildcats from Villanova ran away with most of the titles at the Madison Square Garden Invitational track meet but a wily "Cat from Kentucky also got in his share of kicks.

Villanova carted away five individual events and one relay championship Friday night, but speedy Jim Green, a sophomore from the University of Kentucky Wildcats won over the crowd of 8,671 with a stirring meet-record victory in the 60-yard dash.

Green, 20, had to beat out three Olympians, and he did just that with a furious kick in the last 20 yards to win in six seconds flat.

John Carlos, the controversial sprinter from San Jose State, was second. Lennox Miller of Southern California third and Carlos' teammate, Ronnie Ray Smith, fourth.

Green, the defending NCAA dash champion, said that Carlos had spoken to him before the race.

"Carlos came over to me and told me, 'It won't take much to beat you tonight,'" Green said. "I don't think he meant it viciously. He was just trying to psych me. I just told him that he'd have to run the best race of his life to win."

Carlos, who won a bronze medal at the Olympic Games but was involved in a demonstration at the victory stand and ultimately dismissed from the U.S. team said:

"I had lots of things on my mind. Many of my friends were here watching and I wasn't concentrating on the race. But don't take anything away from Green. I got beat by a good boy."

Three other meet records were eclipsed when Villanova's mile-relay squad won in 3:17.6 unknown Phil Tobin of St. John's N.Y., captured the 1,000-yard run in 2:08.8 and Ron Jourdan of Florida took the high jump at seven feet.

Villanova's individual titles were wrapped up by Olympians Larry James in the 600, Erv

Crews of the Conti Plumbing Co. of Lowellville and the Sayre Electric Contracting Co. of East Liverpool, other subcontractors also are on the job.

THE CONCRETE work is being pushed ahead with use of a so-called self-climbing crane, a European import comprised of two huge vertical and horizontal beams. The crane lifts materials and forms from ground level onto the job site and is being used extensively in the pouring of transit-mix concrete hauled to the site.

The self-climbing crane, first ever used in a construction job here, now towers at its maximum height of 122 feet. The vertical beam is stationary, serving as the support. The horizontal beam rotates freely at a touch from the operator, lifting material at the end of a cable and swinging it onto the job site.

Work also has started on exterior fire stairs, which will be erected at either end of the building for use in emergencies. They also are basically of concrete.

The building's residents will be served normally by two elevators running parallel in a single wide shaft. The fire stairs jut out beyond the exterior walls of the building. They're there in case of power failure that would idle the elevators or for use during a fire, although the structure is considered fireproof.

The Builders Co. was granted the contract for the project late in July. It specifies completion by February 1970.

ON-SITE WORK began in August, things such as sinking caissons to provide support for the building. Actual construction work began in November.

The housing authority was assured a federally-guaranteed loan for the project about 18 months ago. It received the final go-ahead last June from the Department of Housing and Urban Development at Washington.

Meanwhile, the housing authority expects work will begin by spring on another $2,383,281 complex off Maine Blvd. to provide housing for 130 low-income families.

The contractor is Fountain Circle Builders of Dayton, which will erect the project for Housing Associates, Inc., of Columbus, the developer. When the "turnkey" project is finished, it will be purchased from the developer by the housing authority.

THE HOUSING will be erected on a tract approximately 11 acres on the east side of Maine Blvd., overlooking Beechwood and the Ohio River.

The holdup now appears to be a need for legislative action by Council to vacate sections of four unused streets which are part of the tract. Housing Associates filed a request with Council Monday night for vacation of the four stretches, comprising parts of Wilbert Ave., Wisconsin St., Eutaw Ave. and LaBelle Terrace. None of the streets ever was opened because they lie in a tract that was a virtual wilderness before plans developed for the housing project.

Council referred the Housing Associates' request to its streets committee. Law requires a notice of the intended action must be published in the newspaper for six weeks before final action can be taken to vacate a

Legislators Removed By Brazil's Head

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — President Arthur da Costa e Silva has tightened his grip on Brazil, recessing legislatures of five states indefinitely and purging 33 legislators.

Da Costa e Silva also announced Friday the creation of a national committee to investigate "subversion or counterrevolutionary activities." This apparently paved the way for an expanded hunt to root out opposition and alleged corruption.

Brazil's government said widespread corruption in the state assemblies of Sao Paulo, Pernambuco, Guanabara, Sergipe and Rio de Janeiro justified their closing. The federal congress has been closed since Dec. 13 when Da Costa e Silva assumed dictatorial powers.

Thirty of the 33 purged legislators were suspended of their political rights for 10 years. This means they cannot vote, engage in politics or make political statements. Most of them belonged to the opposition Brazilian Democratic Movement, but some were members of the government's own National Renewal Alliance party.

Da Costa e Silva acted after a three-hour meeting with the National Security Council at his summer palace. It was the council's third meeting since Dec. 13, and the president told its members to be prepared to meet again to consider new purges.

The action raised to 81 the number of congressmen removed since December. Of these 71 also have lost their political rights.

The act that gave Da Costa e Silva sweeping powers stipulates that suspended legislators will not be replaced when congress is permitted to reconvene. No date for this has been set, and it is unlikely to happen before the government completes its cleanup of opposition and alleged subversives.

Da Costa e Silva said the suspended state legislatures had "abused their rights" by engaging in corrupt practices, including paying their members excessively.

Because state deputies are paid according to the number of sessions they attend regardless of the duration, many assemblies have developed the practice of holding several short sessions the same day.

There is some historical evidence to support the contention that Christopher Columbus was not of Italian extraction, and that he came from a Spanish-Jewish family which settled in Genoa. It is a fact, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica, that he preferred the name of Colon to Columbus and always wrote in Spanish or Latin.

lates that suspended legislators will not be replaced when congress is permitted to reconvene. No date for this has been set, and it is unlikely to happen before the government completes its cleanup of opposition and alleged subversives.

Da Costa e Silva said the suspended state legislatures had "abused their rights" by engaging in corrupt practices, including paying their members excessively.

Because state deputies are paid according to the number of sessions they attend regardless of the duration, many assemblies have developed the practice of holding several short sessions the same day.

There is some historical evidence to support the contention that Christopher Columbus was not of Italian extraction, and that he came from a Spanish-Jewish family which settled in Genoa. It is a fact, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica, that he preferred the name of Colon to Columbus and always wrote in Spanish or Latin.

Beirut is a Mediterranean midpoint convenient to Egypt, Jordan, Saudi Arabia, Syria and Iraq.

The Best To The Worst

The range of candidates who have committed themselves to the political arena in the May primaries extends from the experienced and astute to the innocent and inept.

Many citizens interested in efficient self-government are taken at this time of the year to hand wringing and chest pounding in disappointment over the nature of some men and women who seek office.

Actually, the cities and villages of our district are fortunate to have as capable administrators as they do, for it is obvious that lower level representative government is fraught with petty grievances, insufficient revenue, unpopular decisions and little profit.

All the same, it is sad that more men and women of intelligence, education and ability do not aspire to serve their communities. Too many are unwilling to take the time away from their careers, others fear the public eye and the uncertain regard of the voter. Still others consider the effect of partisan politics on their families or business, some with vanity do not want to test the ballot box, while others believe the task beneath them.

It is not just a case of citizens who are reluctant to assume leadership not having the right to criticize, or "we get the kind of government we deserve." There are those who do not have the talents nor the spectrum of experience who deserve better.

Republican and Democrat leaders are at fault for not obtaining the best candidates they can, for not inspiring the top minds and the proven leaders to accept what is a real duty. But this is no easy persuasion, and we cannot be too harsh on the party cadre whose responsibility is to get a candidate, any candidate from the thin ranks of volunteers.

The stereotype image of politics has been a handicap, and an unjustified one, for although this city and others have had the traditional hacks, kick-back boys, vague-brained speech-makers and double-dealers, there have been many sincere, concerned and capable men who have served faithfully and with success.

Not all those who enter the races this year are what we would want for a fair-minded progressive, energetic legislator, aware of our needs and able to meet them.

But quite a few of them have most of these qualifications.

And all deserve honest appraisal as potential public servants, plus a salute for being willing to take on the often thankless responsibility.

Pauper Image Is Phony

Our position to the forthcoming congressional pay raise can be summed up in three words — it is excessive.

We do not quarrel with the claim that senators and representatives are in line for a pay raise because the cost of living has risen for all Americans. We do take exception with a 41 per cent increase which the proposed $12,500 represents.

We also disapprove of the pauper image promoted by some members of Congress who support the recommended increases.

Members of Congress now receive $30,000 a year. But that is only part of their financial picture. Senators are entitled to allowances for staff, equipment and expenses ranging almost to $400,000. House members can draw more than $100,000 in allowances and benefits.

Congressmen and senators are given suites of rooms in one of the congressional office buildings with furnishings of their choice, they receive a stationary allowance and have generous travel allowances.

In offering a resolution in opposition of the large pay increases, Delaware Republican John J. Williams said: "We're setting the pattern for expenditures that could cost $4.5 billion." He was referring to pay boosts for other government workers.

One of the inflation fuels has been exorbitant wage demands brought on by rising costs and higher taxes. The federal government should be leading the movement for reasonable restraint, not encouraging further excesses.

Change Reaches The Bowery

Change, so much a part of present society, has invaded one of the most famous symbols of down and outism in the country, New York City's Bowery.

A three-year survey has dispelled some false ideas about the inhabitants of the Bowery and has come up with some surprising new facts.

The study was made by the Columbia University Bureau of Applied Research. It was requested by New York City's Department of Social Services which wanted a detailed picture of Bowery residents.

Some of the study's conclusions include: Contrary to popular belief, there never were many corporate executives who plunged all the way to a Bowery life.

Most of the Bowery derelicts had a relatively low status all their lives and it wasn't much of a drop to the bottom of the barrel. More than 80 per cent of the men received some type of welfare before hitting the Bowery level.

About one third of the present Bowery population is Negro compared to 15 per cent 10 years ago. Skid-row Negroes are younger than their white counterparts.

Many of the avenue of despair's drunkards and loiterers are troublesome youths with a record of heavy drinking and police records.

More than a third of the population can be classified in the heavy-drinker category but many were found to be moderate drinkers and some do not drink at all.

Researchers found that the Bowery's population has declined 64 per cent since 1949, to a total of 4,850 men.

A spokesman for Operation Bowery, a city welfare program, suggests that efforts to rehabitate derelicts before they reach skid row is a factor in the declining population.

Another factor is the rowdiness of the younger Bowery inhabitants which has driven older men to other sections of the city.

Information gleaned by Columbia researchers encourage continued the social worker efforts toward rehabilitation of Bowery derelicts and a broadening of the program to reach those who have drifted away, plus the Bowery candidates found in pockets scattered around the city.

Timely Quotes

"Many who say that ours is a government of laws and not of men fail to realize that no law is self-operative, but must be enacted, interpreted, applied and enforced by men."

—Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D.

"I would be immensely disappointed if the United States, a nation as rich as this, did not want to be part of such a great adventure . . . The reasons we are not solving the problems on earth is because we don't want to. The space program is costing only six-tenths of one per cent of the gross national product."

—Dr. Harold C. Urey, chemist and Nobel Prize laureate, saying he supports the Apollo moon program, even though it cannot be justified on scientific grounds.

"The U.S. government is probably the only sieve in the world that leaks through the top."

—William Barnds, former member of CIA, on secrecy, or lack of it, in government.

Letters To The Editor

If Miss Hager's criticism of the city jail in last week's Review is true, remedial steps should be taken with a fair degree of promptness.

I believe the city's finances would not be unduly strained in undertaking the improvements her concrete negotiations implied. Salt is not a too costly condiment for food.

Miss Hager is to be commended for her solicitude for the nondescript poor, who somehow run afoul of the law locally, and also for her startling humility — a rare quality indeed in today's world of status, face and front.

Her point is well taken that even the most respectable citizen cannot rule out the possibility that he sometime, somehow, might occupy a cell in the local lockup, and if he ever should, you can be very sure he would want no part of the conditions so graphically described in Miss Hager's letter.

Nor should the ordinary lawbreakers have to put up with such primitive conditions either. He is, after all, a human person, incredible as it may seem, and as such, entitled to a human environment even in the local jail.

CARL J. GRAHAM
997 Peake St.

P.S. How come you publish letters without the sender's full name and address? Anyone who writes a letter to the editor to bring his views or ideas before the community should have the courage to sign his or her name or else refrain from writing.

(Editor's Note: We agree that generally speaking a letter is more meaningful if the author's identity is known.)

However, there are some citizens who have important and knowledgeable comments to make about certain issues which can be beneficial to the community, but who do not wish to subject themselves to the consequences of public attention.

I would like to point out that many people do not know what a yield sign means. This includes truckers and motorists as well.

At the intersection of 170 and old Route 30 where there is a ramp on and off the freeway and there is a stop sign, a woman driver was struck by a truck when she failed to stop before getting on the freeway.

She did not see the truck because my husband, who is a truck driver, was turning on old 30 while in his rig, thus blocking her view. I do not know why she did not stop, but I know many people blamed the truck driver even though he could not have avoided hitting her car, unless he could have sprouted wings.

I have experienced the same thing in my car. At least twice I have had to almost halt because a motorist did not stop before turning onto the ramp to the freeway.

Let us be fair to truckers; they are trying to earn a living, and companies do not usually keep drivers that have or cause accidents. And let us remember that motorists do not intentionally have accidents or disobey laws, at least I hope not.

But most traffic accidents are between cars not trucks. And let us hope that all realize that a yield sign means that even if you, stop you must yield the right of way to the other person.

Cigarette Ad Ban Proposed

Although the Federal Communications Commission has proposed that a ban be placed on cigarette advertising over television and radio, there is doubt whether any such step can be legal unless a new constitutional amendment, covering such a prohibition, is adopted by both houses of Congress and three-fourths of the states.

The FCC has jurisdiction over communication facilities but it is primarily for the purpose of regulating their operations through the allocation of channels and frequencies.

It has no authority to tell either television or radio stations what they may say in their programs. This is protected under the first amendment of the Constitution, which guarantees the right of free speech and freedom of the press.

WHEN PUBLIC OPINION in America recognized that excessive drinking of alcoholic beverages could be injurious to health, a constitutional amendment forbidding the manufacture and sale of such products was adopted in 1919, and then repealed in 1933.

There are many things being sold today which could be injurious to the health of the citizens if used unwisely. The argument being made against cigarette advertising is based on a detailed report by the U.S. surgeon general issued in 1964 declaring that "cigarette smoking is a health hazard of sufficient importance in the United States to warrant appropriate remedial action."

He told a Senate committee in 1965 that, "in general, the greater the number of cigarettes smoked daily, the higher the death rate."

But if the executive branch of the government or any of the independent agencies or the Congress has the power to prevent the advertising of cigarettes by radio and television, it also could conceivably attempt to prevent similar advertising from being presented through the printed word.

Likewise, the prohibition could extend to all potentially harmful instruments or articles, including ammunition or medicines of certain kinds. Sleeping pills, for instance, often are taken in excess or are used as a means of committing suicide.

Under some circumstances, automobiles are dangerous, and state and local governments have adopted regulations forbidding the issuance of a driver's license to particular persons. But no restriction is placed on advertising which offers automobiles for sale.

If the federal government, without any constitutional amendment, can lawfully exclude the advertising of any article which might be injurious, then the sale of variety of things could be barred by a simple edict from Washington.

Whether cigarette smoking is or is not dangerous to health is not the prime issue. What is actually involved is the power of Congress or the Federal Communications Commission or any other agency to issue regulations which determine what may or may not be advertised for sale to the public.

If it is lawful to manufacture and sell the article itself, then the advertising is a proper exercise of the right to conduct a business through the sale of such products by any of the available methods of marketing.

To be consistent with previous precedents, the way to deal with the cigarette problem would be to prohibit all sales of cigarettes. If public opinion desires such a thing, the only legal means really to accomplish it is to adopt a constitutional amendment prohibiting the manufacture, sale or transportation of all allegedly harmful articles.

For if a federal agency has the power to tell radio, television and the press what may or may not be offered for sale through their media, it would be discriminatory to allow the same products to be sold over the counter.

THE FEDERAL Communications Commission says that it is not going to put this order into effect until June 30, so as to give Congress an opportunity to review the action.

If, however, Congress does nothing about it and the FCC, by formal order, seeks to prohibit the advertising of cigarettes on television and radio, then the courts will have to decide immediately whether such an order is constitutional.

It is unlikely that the Supreme Court of the United States will assert that a federal agency has the right to interfere with freedom of speech on television and radio by suppressing the advertising of certain products, while at the same time these articles may be advertised in newspapers and magazines as well as on billboards, by mail or by other means of directly reaching the public.

VICTOR RIESEL

Labor Plans Own College

WASHINGTON — Most campuses today come with built-in pickets — but none is so well equipped as the newest of educational sites soon to be located some 26 miles from this capital.

It will be America's first labor college — planned by labor, built by labor, trusted by labor. For the most part it will be peopled by young labor men, soon to replace the elders who've led the AFL and CIO, in war and peace and merger, for most of the 20th century.

This labor college, in fact as well as in name, will be no gimmickry, no mere center for a handful of classes. It will be labor's answer to the generation gap and to the 21st century and to the staffing of future governments as they move deeper and deeper into manpower training, welfare, guaranteed incomes, de-slumping and perhaps, as George Meany, (Mr. Labor) has proposed, finally become the employers of last resort.

This is a grave new world into which we race in the last three decades of the 20th century. More and more the world goes labor — more and more this is reflected in appointments of union leaders as ambassadors, labor men as embassy ministers and secretaries and labor attaches, advisers to the Secretary of State and federal agencies.

MORE AND MORE the law becomes intricate — labor boards, emergency boards, economic advisory boards. More and more labor must deal with billions of dollars in controls and investments.

So the elders of labor assigned the 48-year-old Walter Davis, director of the AFL-CIO Dept. of Education, to develop plans for a labor college. He and his colleagues now are ready to report to the February 17 high command midwinter Executive Council session in Bal Harbour, Fla.

They believe they have fulfilled the council's directive for a "feasibility study examining the scope, cost and location and related questions."

Mr. Davis has consulted with the U.S. Civil Service Commission, the American Bankers Assn. and Harbridge House of Boston, which specializes in such studies, and has the advice of Prof. Fred Hoehler, formerly educational director of the United Steelworkers and now with Michigan State University.

There will at first be a center somewhere here in the district, to which will come some 400 young men and women from the staffs of national unions. In the second year, there will be 500, and then 900 in the third. There'll be more in the full-fledged college when it opens its campus (as projected) in an educational complex in the hothouse-hatched "perfect" model city, Columbia, Md. 26 miles out of Washington.

THERE THE STILL unnamed labor college, for the moment known as the National Labor

Studies Institute, will nestle among the new campuses of Antioch College, the Johns Hopkins University and the Dag Hammarskjold School of International Affairs. Thus there will be a "prefab" center of learning, available library, research centers and even an athletic field or two for rah-rah rumbles.

As the report to the AFL-CIO council indicates, it will be run by a nonprofit corporation — without government funds. National union presidents have been interviewed by Mr. Davis' team and the veterans are willing to give.

They realize they have built a fantastically powerful movement — bigger, tougher, wealthier, more successful than any in the non-Communist world.

Now, as they gather in Bal Harbour's Hotel Americana, they see horrendously complex problems. Their membership is averaging 27 years of age or less. The black proletariat is moving in. Old liberal friends have turned picador and link them with the establishment.

THERE ARE GAPING HOLES in the leadership itself, despite George Meany's vigor, influence and tactical talent which combines the best of Cardinal Richelieu, Prince Talleyrand and Viscount Grey.

Several influential council leaders have died since the last meeting. At least three are ailing seriously. Others for personal reasons want out. There are militant replacements. There is the little known but ebulliently powerful Charles Luna, president of the new United Transportation Union. There is Alvin F. Gopiron, chief of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers, which struck the oil industry.

There is the 49-year-old oratorical fire-eater Jerry Wurf, of the State, County and Municipal Employees whose targets today are Gov. Nelson Rockefeller in particular and any mayor in general. And there is the unassuming Howard Coughlin, leader of the Office and Professional Employees, with jurisdiction over the New York Stock Exchange, the American Exchange, produce exchanges, secret defense installations, and "Wall street." He's on the road now, urging thousands of scientists to enroll. His goals a universal four-day week.

But by the 21st century, perhaps sooner, the elders and the replacements will need replacements.

That's why there'll be a labor college — the first of its kind.

Thoughts

All in all, it looks as if things will get worse before they get better for the American motorist.

"Your men shall fall by the sword and your mighty men in battle."—Isaiah 3:25.

"And even if it be true that I have erred, my error remains with myself."—Job 19:4.

The Egyptians adopted the first calendar based on the solar year in 4246 B.C. It was a 12-month calendar, with each month containing 30 days. To make the calendar come out even with the sun, they added five days at the end of the year—six days every fourth year. These added days were not used for any months, but were part as feast days in honor of their gods.

Officials Ask Offers On Ashes, Door Job

Mayor George E. Willshaw and Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey are scheduled to open bids at City Hall at noon Monday, Feb. 24, on purchase of 2,500 tons of ashes for use of the street department and repair of three overhead doors on the street department barn in East End.

The legal notice for bids will be issued Monday. The action was authorized in legislation approved by Council Monday night.

On East End Properties

First 3 Cases Scheduled By Zoning Appeals Board

The City Board of Zoning Appeals is scheduled to hear its first three cases at a meeting Thursday, March 13, at 7 p.m. in City Hall. All three affect East End properties.

The properties lie in areas zoned R-3 (medium high density residential) and the owners seek to continue to use them for purposes not normally allowed in districts set aside for residential use.

FRANK McCUNE seeks a temporary permit to use property at 1719 Pennsylvania Ave. as a used furniture store. His business is in the Oakland section.

Howard Arb seeks a temporary permit to use property at 948 Pennsylvania Ave. at a used car lot. His business place is near the Garfield School. Arb formerly operated a new car agency near East Junior High School.

Elizabeth Carter seeks a permit for a special exception to use property at 1160 Pennsylvania Ave. as a non-commercial recreational facility. Her building is east of Boyce St.

The Zoning Board of Appeals is preparing to publish legal notices of the hearings, a requirement of the law. Signed by the Rev. E. C. Trawler, secretary, they explain the hearings will be held in the office of Planning Coordinator Don Eckert on the second floor of City Hall.

The other members of the appeals board are Richard Carter, chairman, Clair Parks, Raymond Trevelline and George Aronson.

THE McCUNE and Arb properties were mentioned frequently before City Council late in 1968 when an East End group sought to have a general change made in the zoning classification of East End's main thoroughfare—Pennsylvania Ave., Elizabeth St. and Harvey Ave.

The property-owners contended that the stretch is devoted largely to commercial use, despite its "residential" zoning.

The appeals board machinery is set up in the City Code sections on zoning regulations. Filing of the appeal automatically holds up a final decision on the question unless the zoning inspector certifies to the board that a stay would "cause imminent peril to life or property." The board is authorized to reverse or affirm, wholly or partly, or modify the zoning inspector's ruling.

The next step in appeal after the board acts is a legal action in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon.

Sermons Due By Student At St. Stephen's

C. David Weyrich, 33, a second-year student at Bexley Hall - Colgate Rochester (N.Y.) Divinity School, formerly of Dayton, will preach at the 8 and 11 a.m. services Sunday at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

The local congregation is joining all parishes of the denomination in the U.S. in recognizing theological education and raising funds for seminary support. St. Stephen's will receive its annual offering for Bexley, one of the 11 Episcopal seminaries in the country.

Weyrich began his college career at Muskingum College in the 50's. After leaving college, he entered a family-owned business dealing in retail and commercial arts supplies where he became treasurer and retail sales manager. Originally a Presbyterian, he became interested in the Episcopal Church and was confirmed in 1961.

How To Use Storage Area In A Garage

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

A great many home owners have floored over the tie-beams which span across their garage and found room for numerous articles which otherwise would clutter both house and basement.

Very few of them have made use, however, of the great amount of space available above the hood of the car. Actually, this amounts to some 300 or 400 cubic feet in the average one-car garage.

To make use of this space, it is not necessary to have any floor supports for the stage, as it is supported by 2-by-4 or 2-by-6 strips, run straight across the garage from wall to wall, and spiked into the 2-by-4 wall studs. The planks composing the deck or stage are laid at right angles to these. As a rule only two 2-by-4s or 2-by-6s will be required, and ordinary seven-eighths tongued and grooved sheathing is good enough for the stage.

In taking the measurements and laying out this job, the best procedure is to run the car in until the bumper practically touches the rear wall, and then leave about one foot between what will be the edge of the deck and the windshield. This will do away with any possibility of running into the edge of the deck.

It is generally conceded that storing unused articles and household equipment in the garage is preferable to storing it in a cellar where dampness or mildew may affect such items as luggage, trunks, mattresses, springs and furniture.

It is also generally known that having such things up off the floor permits air to circulate among them and keep them in fair condition.

Crime

Cosa Nostra hosts in 1963 by a U.S. Senate Rackets Committee.

The commission's report said the northwest section of the state is bossed by Stefano Magaddino of Buffalo, N. Y., and there are eight members in Erie County, Pa.

Detective Capt. Mario Bagnoni of Erie, called the report "ridiculous and not based on fact."

"Why haven't Erie, state police and Mill Creek police been notified of the investigations?" he asked. "This report is nothing more than hogwash."

But Bagnoni, too said the crime problem grows with public support.

The report also claimed there are five members of the "syndicate" in Westmoreland County, four in Cambria County, two in Blair and one each in Washington and Mercer counties.

Mayor Kenneth O. Tompkins of Johnstown in Cambria County said he is unaware of any syndicate members in the city and claimed there is "no evidence of alleged syndicate activities such as prostitution, loan sharking and narcotics in Johnstown."

THE SOUTHEAST and northwestern sections of the state were said to be controlled by Angelo Bruno of Philadelphia and Carlo Gambino of New York City. Russell Bufalino of Kingston, Luzerne County, was named as "underboss" of the northeast under Gambino.

Blythe Evans, Luzerne County district attorney, said he wasn't surprised by the commission's allegation that 10 syndicate members were operating in his area.

He disclosed he has been working closely with state authorities and said the solution to the problem "is to increase public attention on people like Russell Bufalino."

Sennett said the commission is withholding the names of other syndicate members in the public interest.

"If we had used their names," he said, "we would have had to disclose some of the evidence we have against them."

At the United Nations, Secretary-General U Thant said through a spokesman: "An auspicious beginning has been made in our common search for a just and lasting peace in the Middle East."

He was referring to the U.S. agreement to begin bilateral talks on the Middle East as a step toward four-power talks proposed by France.

Western diplomatic sources said the bilateral talks would begin next week, probably on Wednesday at the countries U.N. missions in New York. They speculated two months of bilateral talks might be needed to lay groundwork for four-power meetings.

In Tel Aviv, the army said Arab and Israeli forces exchanged fire across the Jordan River cease-fire line in two areas Friday night. It reported no casualties or damage.

MOMENT OF MEDITATION

No To God!
Yes to Evolution

There are many things in this world of ours that are hard to understand. One of them is the attitude that has been taken in recent years concerning our public schools. Decisions by the courts of our land have forbidden the use of prayer to God in our public schools. In effect, they have said, No, to God. They maintain that this is a violation of the freedom of man.

Yet on the other hand, it is now being decided that it is perfectly right for our public schools to teach as fact the God-less theory of evolution. This theory is a plain contradiction of the Bible teaching in Genesis one of the true accounts of the beginning of the world and all things in it. This teaching is in direct violation of the conscience of many people. Their conscience is not considered when it is decided to teach this unscientific theory.

On the one hand, we have been told, No, to anything related to the Great Creator of the universe. On the other hand, a firm yes, has been given to the farout theory that the things that are now, are just a matter of chance.

If I were to tell you that the watch I wear, just happened one day, you would think that I am in need of a Doctor. I would be foolish for me to insist that the metal, jewels and glass that compose my watch, just went together by themselves and formed a watch that keeps accurate time. Yet something far more fantastic than this is being taught regarding the universe. They tell us the world, with all of its uniformity, is just a matter of chance. It is just something that happened without wisdom or design. If I teach this in the schools, this is considered to be wonderful and I am considered to be a brilliant man.

It is time for people who believe in God, the Great Creator, to stand up for that which they know to be right. It is a shame when one militant person can lead a fight and remove prayer from the public schools. This is just the first step. Efforts are being made to remove God's name from the Pledge of Allegiance, from our coins, etc. Friends, stop and ask yourself where we are headed. Are we a nation UNDER GOD?

If I teach that there had to be wisdom and design behind the things that now exist, I am considered "old-fashioned" and "unscientific".

The existence of the watch argues the existence of the watch-maker. The existence of the building argues the existence of the builder. The existence of uniformity and design in this great universe argues the existence of the great and all wise designer.

It is time for people who believe in God, the Great Creator, to stand up for that which they know to be right. It is a shame when one militant person can lead a fight and remove prayer from the public schools. This is just the first step. Efforts are being made to remove God's name from the Pledge of Allegiance, from our coins, etc. Friends, stop and ask yourself where we are headed. Are we a nation UNDER GOD?

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I remedy tarnished brass?

A.—A good rubbing with a lemon rind dipped in salt will remove most corrosion spots from brass.

Q.—What is a quick and easy way of softening old wallpaper that must be scraped off?

A.—By using an ordinary tank-type of garden sprayer with hot water. This sprayer throws a fine, controlled mist that will wet the paper thoroughly, yet will run down onto the floor.

An apparent quick-change artist tricked a clerk out of $10 Friday afternoon at Reese Jewelers on E. 5th St.

John V. Reese, the owner, told police the customer purchased two small items and gave the clerk of a $10 bill. He asked for small change, pointing out he could use a lot of it.

After the clerk turned over the small change, the customer decided she probably would need it and asked for the larger bills again.

The National Zoo, now one of the most popular attractions in Washington, D.C., survives and thrives despite former Congressional criticism. In 1892, a Representative denounced an appropriation for the zoo by saying: "I do not believe the American people... ought to be taxed to afford shelter and erect homes for snakes, raccoons, opossums, bears and all the creeping and slimy things of the earth."

The command said U.S. helicopter losses in the eight-year war now total 2,354 and fixed-wing aircraft losses 2,545.

U.S. headquarters also reported that two unarmed American civilians were killed and a third was seriously wounded when their Jeep was ambushed at dawn today on a main highway 19 miles northeast of Saigon.

A U.S. spokesman said the civilians were employees of a U.S. firm under contract to the Army. He did not identify them.

The lull in ground fighting continued as military spokesmen reported no major ground fighting today.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported government soldiers killed 43 Viet Cong soldiers, captured 21 prisoners and freed 30 civilians held by the enemy during a combat sweep in the Mekong Delta 65 miles southwest of Saigon Friday.

Government losses were put at four men killed and 26 wounded. Police in Saigon today announced the arrest of a Viet Cong "suicide squad" intent on blowing up military planes parked at the sprawling Tan Son Nhut airport on the edge of the capital.

The police also said they had foiled plans for an attack on national police headquarters in Saigon.

Oil

Orange County boat owners and public officials studied ways to block the slow southward progress of the oil but an Interior Department spokesman said it was unlikely the slick would get that far.

Log booms and chemicals were being used to contain the oil slick, which expands or contracts according to winds, waves and the success of the containment effort.

In Los Angeles, Gov. Ronald Reagan said that President Nixon on had telephoned to say he would declare the oil leak a national disaster if it would help Reagan did not indicate what he told Nixon.

A $1.3 billion damage suit was filed Friday in Santa Barbara Superior Court against Union Oil Corp., Gulf Oil Corp., and Texaco, Inc.

The suit, filed on behalf of all persons whose property was damaged by the slick, claimed the companies "carelessly, recklessly and negligently" carried on drilling activities so as to cause the release of the oil.

Tips for Motorists

Accidents Will Happen, But We would like to think that AAA's traffic safety activities, high school driver education and the good driving habits of members would stamp out all accidents. But the fact is, accidents do still happen. When you're unavoidably involved in a traffic accident or violation, call for AAA aid if required. Even in minor incidents, AAA's $5,000 bail bond keeps you out of jail. Just one of many AAA member benefits.

Q.—How can I remedy tarnished brass?
A.—A good rubbing with a lemon rind dipped in salt will remove most corrosion spots from brass.

Q.—What is a quick and easy way of softening old wallpaper that must be scraped off?
A.—By using an ordinary tank-type of garden sprayer with hot water. This sprayer throws a fine, controlled mist that will wet the paper thoroughly, yet will run down onto the floor.

Quick-Change Artist Gets Away With $10

An apparent quick-change artist tricked a clerk out of $10 Friday afternoon at Reese Jewelers on E. 5th St.

John V. Reese, the owner, told police the customer purchased two small items and gave the clerk of a $10 bill. He asked for small change, pointing out he could use a lot of it.

After the clerk turned over the small change, the customer decided she probably would need it and asked for the larger bills again.

After the customer left the store, the clerk realized she had lost $10 in the exchange.

Reese told the police the man, a Negro, was about 6 feet, 3 inches tall, of heavy build, approximately 30 and wearing a tan jacket.

'Earn Welfare,' Says City Woman

By LIDA SMITH

LETTERS FROM ACROSS the nation have descended upon a city woman whose criticism of governmental welfare policies was published in a magazine last fall.

Mrs. Sadie Willis of 408 Prospect St. is still receiving mail in support of her stand against so-called "hand out programs" about which she originally wrote to Rep. Wayne L. Hays and which was published in the September Readers Digest.

"It's a war between those who will work and those who won't," Mrs. Willis said, expressing what she feels is one of this country's biggest headaches conscientiously ignored by taxpayers. The letter lambasted Washington politicians for "handouts" and unwise spending of the people's money, pointing out the undesirable effects it has on the recipients' self-respect.

Her answer to the welfare "problem" was stated this way: "You keep giving the poor more free handouts, when what they need is a job so they can learn to work and help themselves. Welfare alone has been their ruination. If you give a check or commodities, make them do something in return. If you give education or job training, make them earn it."

She went on to list a number of job possibilities, including road repair, tree trimming within city limits, painting city buildings, work in hospitals and nursing homes and babysitting for working mothers.

Mrs. Willis, a 41-year-old, light-skinned Negro, said "I am not the only one who feels this way. Many hard-working people, black and white, are getting fed up with this free, free, free policy. We are sick and tired of making sacrifices to support those too lazy to stand on their own two feet."

A SOLDIER in Santa Clara, Panama, who read the letter replied, "To some of us Americans who live outside our country and see the same 'free, free, free policy' applied to Foreign Aid, with the same results of suspicion, frustration and lack of appreciation, your letter made us glad to know that there are still Americans at home who realize that you have to work for what you get."

Our northern neighbor, Canada, seems to have fallen into the same "giveaway" system, according to an Alberta woman who had made protests of her own to the Canadian provincial legislature.

The woman wrote Mrs. Willis that some of her countrymen claim the only reason many Indians and Eskimos do little more than drink is because "welfare has robbed them of the dignity of being people." She said that an article in a local magazine reported a study of welfare and non-welfare children in the same socio-economic group indicated that the "former did worse in school because of attitude, behaviour and parental example."

These and other letters have strengthened the thinking of this local woman who wrote in anger, only to find she'd set to music the tune many taxpayers are humming under their breath.

A former resident wrote from her home in Tulsa, Okla., "I never saw a city (East Liverpool) in worse need of cleaning up, fixing up, and painting up," after a recent visit here.

SHE SAID that in her town she knows of second and third generation families of welfare recipients, re-enforcing her belief that "the people who received welfare first had the initiative and drive peeled out of them, and this state of inertia was passed on to their offspring."

Rep. Hays received a pat on the back from a San Diego,

Calif., woman who hailed him as brave for offering the letter for publication. (It first appeared in the "Congressional Record," then in the Digest.)

"Today, no one gives you anything," said a letter from a Howard, R. I., woman confined to a medical center. The 51-year-old welfare recipient wrote the lone negative letter, charging Mrs. Willis with looking at only one side of the welfare coin—ignoring those homes in which both adults are ailing and unable to provide for the family.

She said, "The commodities you mention—what they give is flour, rice, butter and meat in a can. It would make you sick." The woman then advised Mrs. Willis to try the fare doled out to welfare recipients.

Examples of the high cost of living and of raising children when the only income is that monthly check sent by the government offered insight into the problems facing the "honest" person on the welfare list.

MRS. WILLIS explained that these are not the ones she begrudges a living, but the "freeloaders" who support themselves "on their backs"—by having one out of wedlock child after another each year; the ones who live on welfare because their fathers and grandfathers did; and those who find numerous other reasons for being unable to support themselves through an honest day's work.

She said she sees nothing wrong with everyone working—though those who are ill should receive help until such time they can return to jobs and repay the money. Investigations should be carefully made into health cases, and food stamp recipients should have their purchases controlled to the basic items, she suggested.

Mrs. Willis pointed out that at one time she saw a person with food stamps purchasing boxes of strawberries at 39-cents a pint—when others, she included, would not pay such a high price.

"If they're undernourished, they don't need junk," she snapped. She expanded her ideas on the limiting aid beneficiaries by controlling their right to vote, saying "Anyone who gets a check shouldn't vote."

"If convicts can be taught to repair roads, welfare people can. If they're smart enough to go get a check for themselves, they can fill a hole," she continued.

AREA WELFARE authorities expressed doubt that the claim of malingering fits around here, compared to the metropolitan areas.

Don Hepp, Columbiana County welfare director, said the county has some 2,100 recipients.

The largest program is Aid for the Aged with 794 participants, Hepp pointed out. Next are Aid for Dependent Children 824, Aid for the Disabled 226, General Relief 95 cases with 199 persons, Aid for the Blind 32, and Aid for Dependent Children of the Unemployed, 5 cases, involving ten adults and 30 children.

Mrs. Sadie Willis looks over some of the letters she has received in response to her comments on welfare recipients.

The general relief program is a temporary assistance program under which aid is given needy persons until they can be processed for some other program, he said. Hepp noted that 107 of the Aid for the Aged 65 years and over are in nursing homes.

Hepp said the number of illegitimate children receiving funds through the ADC program would be "an extreme minority," in his opinion. He continued to emphasize systems and programs are intended to get people off welfare and back on their feet through proper training.

THE HEAVIEST concentration of welfare recipients in Columbiana County live right here—in the East Liverpool, Wellsville and Salineville areas, Hepp estimated saying no study has been made populationwise.

He thought the reason for this being the focal point is probably due to the lack of a great number of diversified industries, and many of the ones here are those in which employees frequently suffer disabilities.

ALTHOUGH he had no particular comment on Mrs. Willis' letter, he added "The general public lacks understanding about the various relief programs and the numerous regulations covering their administration. The letter has been discussed within the confines of the staff at the office," he said. The letter has been discussed within the confines of the staff at the offices, he said.

In an explanation of the Food Stamp program, Hepp said, though not truly a welfare program, it is handled through the county organization. "Certified families spend their regular grocery money for the stamps, and the US Department of Agriculture gives them bonus or free stamps enabling them to stretch their food dollars."

Hepp concluded by saying that getting people on relief back to work may be a large problem in metropolitan areas, "But in our semi-rural county there are very few potential workers getting public assistance."

It would be difficult to speculate any outcome on a national level, if any, of Mrs. Willis' letter to Rep. Hays—surely it was one of many he receives daily from constituents—but Mrs. Willis has hinted that she is taking notes and plans to write a book or series of articles on the subject for publication "someday."

Tomlinson Run Due Face-Lifting Under State's 10-Year Proposal

By ROBERT DUFFY

Hopeful that the West Virginia legislature will be generous and grant the Department of Natural Resources the funds it has requested, Tomlinson Run State Park, located off Route 8 in Hancock County, may undergo a face-lifting in the near future.

Money is the big "if," but if funds can be made available, a 10-year plan has been proposed with the cost set at approximately $2 million. Of this, $270,000 has already been included in the department's 1969-70 budget presented to the legislature to launch the long range program at the Hancock County park this year.

Strong support for the plan has been supplied by the Recreation Sub-Committee of the West Virginia University Extension Service which has distributed information to residents and organizations throughout the county asking their help on the plan by writing to their representatives. The committee is headed by Miss Reta Cleg, county extension agent, and N. T. Holbrook, superintendent of Tomlinson Run park for the past 16 years.

Holbrook pointed out that the new administration under Gov. Arch Moore has said it will give special attention to the state parks of West Virginia.

HOLBROOK recalled the last 10-year improvement program was launched in 1953, and by 1955 the major improvements included a new swimming pool and bath house with adjoining parking lots.

Under the proposed 10-year plan, the new facilities would include an educational building, a combination nature study area and amphitheatre to provide the conservation education leadership essential to youth group camping. This structure also will be designed to function as a classroom for the Panhandle's high school studies during the school term.

Use of the youth group camp would be expanded, with another organized camp similar to the existing facility proposed. Although it would be situated near the existing camp, it would, however, be a self-contained unit complete with a separate dining hall and other management controls.

The proposed plans for recreational facilities include additional picnic areas with a capacity of 1,000 persons, and a summer season games court area with provisions for tennis, including all of its contents.

reational facilities include additional picnic areas with a capacity of 1,000 persons, and a summer season games court area with provisions for tennis, including all of its contents.

New docks would be constructed along the lake front, and a new concession stand proposed. Another major project would be the paving of the rough parking lot areas which surround the bath house.

For the winter season, the new plan calls for an ice skating area, a sled run and practice ski slope with artificial snow machines. Instructors for winter sports also would be available.

Included under the new recreation facilities will be guided tours conducted from the nature study center covering various sections of the park. Park visitors will be offered daily tours arranged by the park naturalist, while the group camp areas will have specially conducted tours.

The park incurred about $50,000 loss Jan. 2 this year when fire destroyed the maintenance and supply building, including all of its contents.

Holbrook said it had taken years to accumulate a good supply of tools and equipment. Among the contents were the new boat docks which were under construction, along with a truck, two lawn maintenance tractors, shop tools and lumber and material for the concession stand.

REQUISITIONS have been made to replace the equipment lost in the fire, but they have not been processed.

Existing facilities at Tomlinson Run consist of several miles of nature trails leading a visitor into a wide range of geological, scenic, historic, and recreational activities, including croquet, archery, a Little League baseball field, miniature golf and skating.

HOLBROOK POINTS out that one of the major improvements would be the expansion of the waterfront floral and topographic relief areas. Picnic space provides for 1,000 persons.

An artificial lake of 28 acres offers opportunity for boating and fishing, and the swimming pool, which can accommodate 1,600 bathers, is the largest artificial pool in the state park system.

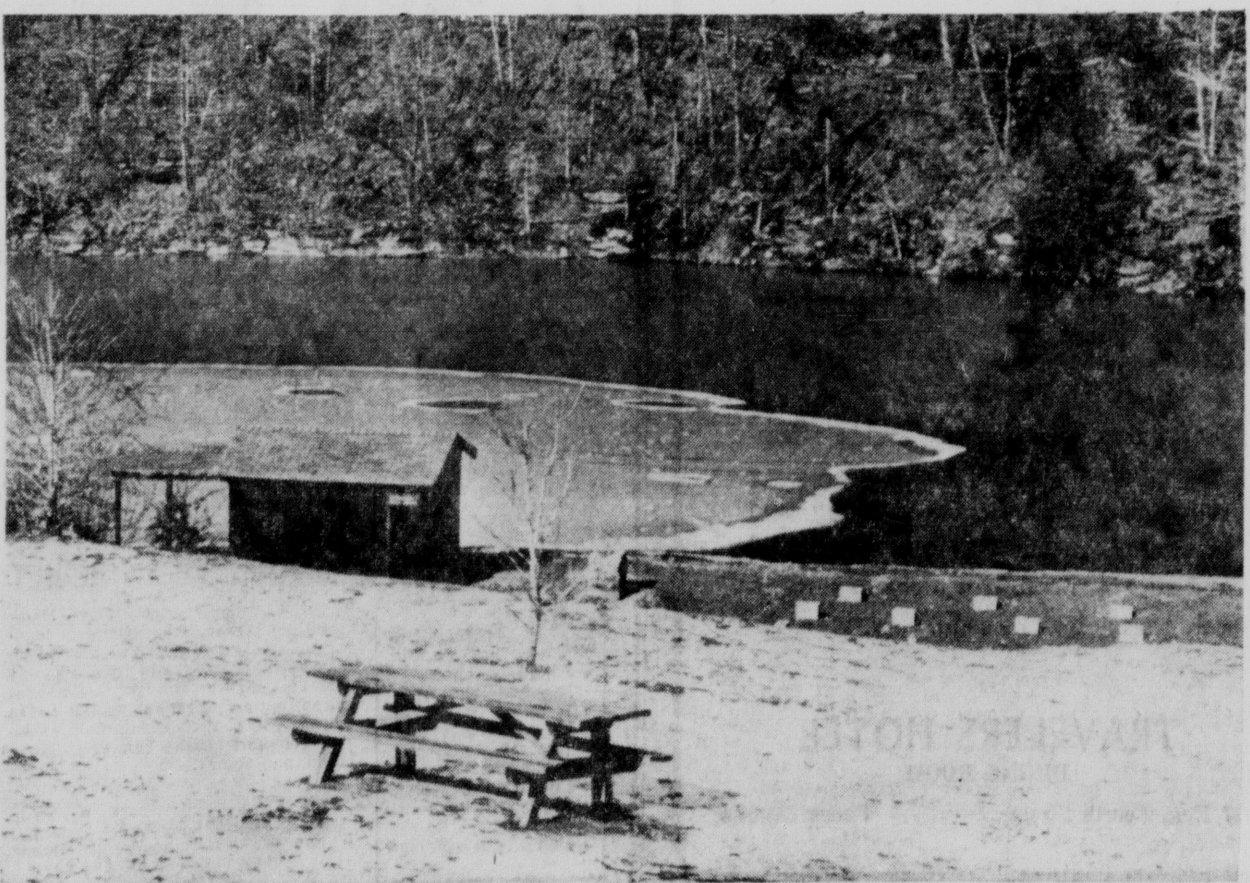

Fishing is offered in Tomlinson Run, the main stem of the park, providing over three miles of natural trout stream fishing on a year-round basis.

The attendance record of the park has shown an annual rate of increase of 13 percent over the past 10 years. Assuming that this growth rate will eventually decline due to severe overcrowding which could conceivably lower the attracting power of the park, then the minimum annual projection exceeds 500,000 person within 10 years.

The demand factor can never be met on such a small park acreage without the total rebuilding of the area, officials say. This projected visitor load for the northern panhandle will cause serious concern for the future, they declare.

Tomlinson Run Park Superintendent N. T. Holbrook studies a map near the park entrance showing the proposed improvements at the facility.

New boat docks and a concession station are planned for this area on the lakefront at Tomlinson Run park.

One of the existing facilities at Tomlinson Run is this dining hall at the youth camp. A new camp with another dining hall similar to this structure is proposed for the future.

The woman wrote Mrs. Willis that some of her countrymen claim the only reason many Indians and Eskimos do little more than drink is because "welfare has robbed them of the dignity of being people." She said that an article in a local magazine reported a study of welfare and non-welfare children in the same socio-economic group indicated that the "former did worse in school because of attitude, behaviour and parental example."

These and other letters have strengthened the thinking of this local woman who wrote in anger, only to find she'd set to music the tune many taxpayers are humming under their breath.

A former resident wrote from her home in Tulsa, Okla., "I never saw a city (East Liverpool) in worse need of cleaning up, fixing up, and painting up," after a recent visit here.

SHE SAID that in her town she knows of second and third generation families of welfare recipients, re-enforcing her belief that "the people who received welfare first had the initiative and drive sapped out of them, and this state of inertia was passed on to their offspring."

Rep. Hays received a pat on the back from a San Diego,

Calif., woman who hailed him as brave for offering the letter for publication. (It first appeared in the "Congressional Record," then in the Digest.)

"Today, no one gives you anything," said a letter from a Howard, R. I., woman confined to a medical center. The 51-year-old welfare recipient wrote the lone negative letter, charging Mrs. Willis with looking at only one side of the welfare coin—ignoring those homes in which both adults are ailing and unable to provide for the family.

She said, "The commodities you mention—what they give is flour, rice, butter and meat in a can. It would make you sick." The woman then advised Mrs. Willis to try the fare doled out to welfare recipients.

Examples of the high cost of living and of raising children when the only income is that monthly check sent by the government offered insight into the problems facing the "honest" person on the welfare list.

MRS. WILLIS explained that these are not the ones she begrudges a living, but the "freeloaders" who support themselves "on their backs"—by having one out of wedlock child after another each year; the ones who live on welfare because their fathers and grandfathers did; and those who find numerous other reasons for being unable to support themselves through an honest day's work.

She said she sees nothing wrong with everyone working—though those who are ill should receive help until such time they can return to jobs and repay the money. Investigations should be carefully made into health cases, and food stamp recipients should have their purchases controlled to the basic items, she suggested.

Mrs. Willis pointed out that at one time she saw a person with food stamps purchasing boxes of strawberries at 39-cents a pint—when others, she included, would not pay such a high price.

"If they're undernourished, they don't need junk," she snapped. She expanded her ideas on the limiting aid beneficiaries by controlling their right to vote, saying "Anyone who gets a check shouldn't vote."

"If convicts can be taught to repair roads, welfare people can. If they're smart enough to go get a check for themselves, they can fill a hole," she continued.

AREA WELFARE authorities expressed doubt that the claim of malingering fits around here, compared to the metropolitan areas.

Don Hepp, Columbiana County welfare director, said the county has some 2,100 recipients.

The largest program is Aid for the Aged with 794 participants, Hepp pointed out. Next are Aid for Dependent Children 824, Aid for the Disabled 226, General Relief 95 cases with 199 persons, Aid for the Blind 32, and Aid for Dependent Children of the Unemployed, 5 cases, involving ten adults and 30 children.

Mrs. Sadie Willis looks over some of the letters she has received in response to her comments on welfare recipients.

The general relief program is a temporary assistance program under which aid is given needy persons until they can be processed for some other program, he said. Hepp noted that 107 of the Aid for the Aged 65 years and over are in nursing homes.

Hepp said the number of illegitimate children receiving funds through the ADC program would be "an extreme minority," in his opinion. He continued to emphasize systems and programs are intended to get people off welfare and back on their feet through proper training.

THE HEAVIEST concentration of welfare recipients in Columbiana County live right here—in the East Liverpool, Wellsville and Salineville areas, Hepp estimated saying no study has been made populationwise.

He thought the reason for this being the focal point is probably due to the lack of a great number of diversified industries, and many of the ones here are those in which employees frequently suffer disabilities.

ALTHOUGH he had no particular comment on Mrs. Willis' letter, he added "The general public lacks understanding about the various relief programs and the numerous regulations covering their administration. The letter has been discussed within the confines of the staff at the office," he said. The letter has been discussed within the confines of the staff at the offices, he said.

In an explanation of the Food Stamp program, Hepp said, though not truly a welfare program, it is handled through the county organization. "Certified families spend their regular grocery money for the stamps, and the US Department of Agriculture gives them bonus or free stamps enabling them to stretch their food dollars."

Hepp concluded by saying that getting people on relief back to work may be a large problem in metropolitan areas, "But in our semi-rural county there are very few potential workers getting public assistance."

It would be difficult to speculate any outcome on a national level, if any, of Mrs. Willis' letter to Rep. Hays — surely it was one of many he receives daily from constituents — but Mrs. Willis has hinted that she is taking notes and plans to write a book or series of articles on the subject for publication "someday."

Tomlinson Run Due Face-Lifting Under State's 10-Year Proposal

By ROBERT DUFFY

Hopeful that the West Virginia legislature will be generous and grant the Department of Natural Resources the funds it has requested, Tomlinson Run State Park, located off Route 8 in Hancock County, may undergo a face-lifting in the near future.

Money is the big "if," but if funds can be made available, a 10-year plan has been proposed with the cost set at approximately $2 million. Of this, $270,000 has already been included in the department's 1969-70 budget presented to the legislature to launch the long range program at the Hancock County park this year.

Strong support for the plan has been supplied by the Recreation Sub-Committee of the West Virginia University Extension Service which has distributed information to residents and organizations throughout the county asking their help on the plan by writing to their representatives. The committee is headed by Miss Reta Cleg, county extension agent, and N. T. Holbrook, superintendent of Tomlinson Run park for the past 16 years.

Holbrook pointed out that the new administration under Gov. Arch Moore has said it will give special attention to the state parks of West Virginia.

HOLBROOK recalled the last 10-year improvement program was launched in 1953, and by 1955 the major improvements included a new swimming pool and bath house with adjoining parking lots.

Under the proposed 10-year plan, the new facilities would include an educational building, a combination nature study area and amphitheatre to provide the conservation education leadership essential to youth group camping. This structure also will be designed to function as a classroom for the Panhandle's high school studies during the school term.

Use of the youth group camp would be expanded, with another organized camp similar to the existing facility proposed. Although it would be situated near the existing camp, it would, however, be a self-contained unit complete with a separate dining hall and other management controls.

The proposed plans for recreational facilities include additional picnic areas with a capacity of 1,000 persons, and a summer season games court area with provisions for tennis, including the opportunity for camp participants to learn the skills and craftsmanship of canoeing, rowing and power boat operation.

New docks would be constructed along the lake front, and a new concession stand proposed. Another major project would be the paving of the rough parking lot areas which surround the bath house.

For the winter season, the new plan calls for an ice skating area, a sled run and practice ski slope with artificial snow machines. Instructors for winter sports also would be available.

Included under the new recreation facilities will be guided tours conducted from the nature study center covering various sections of the parks. Park visitors will be offered daily tours arranged by the park naturalist, while the group camp areas will have specially conducted tours.

The park incurred a about $50,000 loss Jan. 2 this year when fire destroyed the maintenance and supply building, including all of its contents.

Holbrook said it had taken years to accumulate a good supply of tools and equipment. Among the contents were the new boat docks which were under construction, along with a truck, two lawn maintenance tractors, shop tools and lumber and material for the concession stand.

REQUISITIONS have been made to replace the equipment lost in the fire, but they have not been processed.

Existing facilities at Tomlinson Run consist of several miles of nature trails leading a visitor into a wide range of geological, scenic, historic, and recreational activities, including croquet, archery, a Little League baseball field, miniature golf and skating.

HOLBROOK POINTS out that one of the major improvements would be the expansion of the waterfront floral and topographic relief areas. Picnic space provides for 1,000 persons.

An artificial lake of 28 acres offers opportunity for boating and fishing, and the swimming pool, which can accommodate 1,600 bathers, is the largest artificial pool in the state park system.

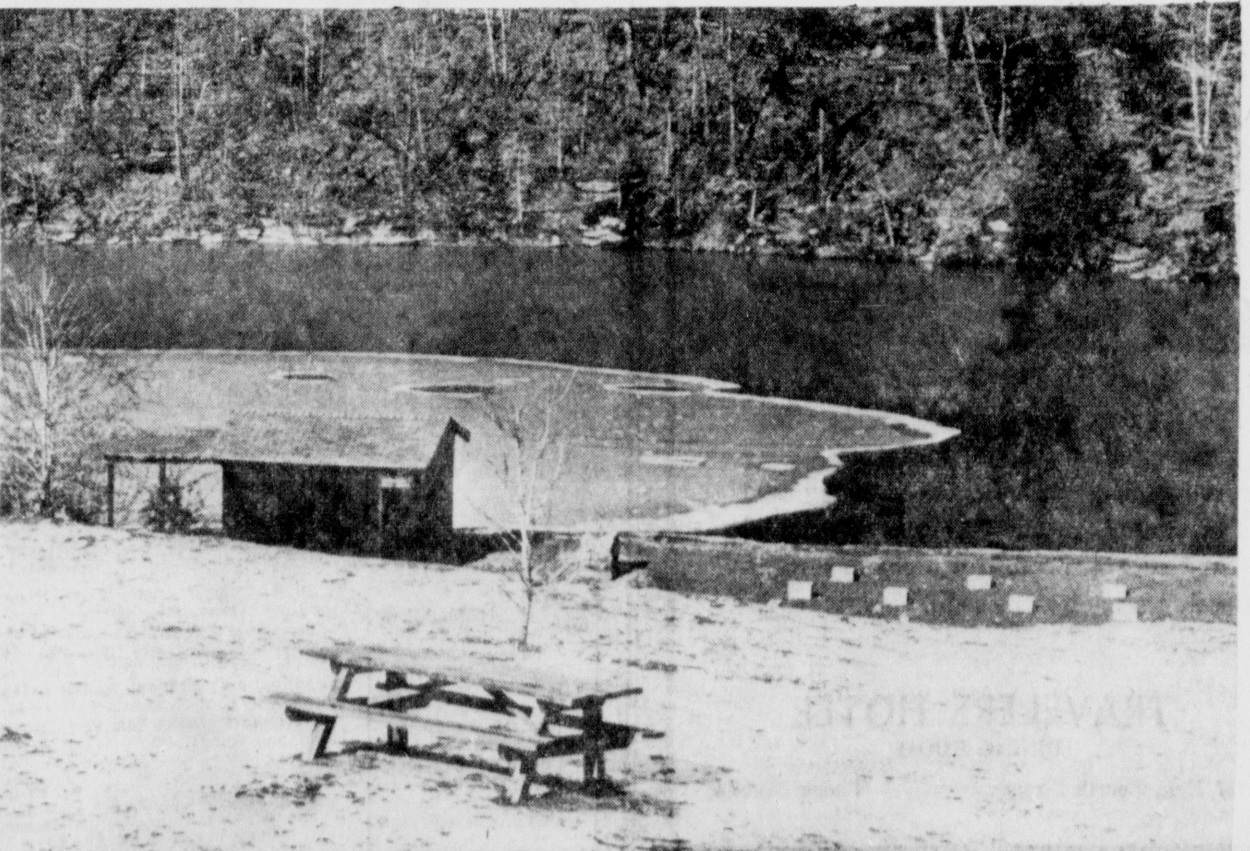

Fishing is offered in Tomlinson Run, the main stem of the park, providing over three miles of natural trout stream fishing on a year-round basis.

The attendance record of the park has shown an annual rate of increase of 13 percent over the past 10 years. Assuming that this growth rate will eventually decline due to severe overcrowding which could conceivably lower the attracting power of the park, then the minimum annual projection exceeds 500,000 person within 10 years.

The demand factor can never be met on such a small park acreage without the total rebuilding of the area, officials say. This projected visitor load for the northern panhandle will cause serious concern for the future, they declare.

Tomlinson Run Park Superintendent N. T. Holbrook studies a map near the park entrance showing the proposed improvements at the facility.

New boat docks and a concession station are planned for this area on the lakefront at Tomlinson Run park.

One of the existing facilities at Tomlinson Run is this dining hall at the youth camp. A new camp with another dining hall similar to this structure is proposed for the future.

SOMETIMES IT PAYS to throw away the "book" when fishing and try the unconventional. Imagination and a willingness to experiment when fish won't bite often produces results when all the proven methods fail.

Breaking the so-called rules when they are unworkable is the mark of a wise and usually successful angler. And, although such things may seem strange or comical, they may be well worth the small effort it takes to give them a try.

A tree is a good example. Usually its overhanging branches are a problem, and frequently you'll find a limb that's been decorated with glittering ornaments by erring casters. Yet, this same limb can be a blessing in disguise. Using strong line, try casting a fly or bug over the branch and permit it to dance lightly on the surface directly below. It sometimes proves just the thing to excite a reluctant battler. Boating a fish hooked in this manner is more a matter of power than finesse, and you may lose more than you land, but it will work on occasion.

Another device calls for the use of two lures instead of one. Tandem fly-fishing for trout is common and extremely effective, yet frequently overlooked. Link two flies together with leader material, one behind the other four inches. This same idea works with plugs or flies and plugs or bait in combinations. There's no need of interesting fish teasers that can be concocted, and often they're just the answer.

These are just two deviations that can be tried, observe the Mercury lads, but the list is limited only by imagination. Who knows, maybe you'll find a "sure thing" that leads to a full-stringer.

HOW OFTEN have you decided against going fishing because of reports of muddy water? It's a natural reaction, especially this time of year when rains whisk silt down the rivers and into lakes. For many, fishing comes to a standstill.

However, muddy water should be no real deterrent. It simply calls for a change in tactics, switching to a style of fishing that is particularly suited to cloudy water conditions.

Remember, fish use senses other than sight when feeding, so, like fishing at night, work on the idea that you should offer a bass something he can hear, smell and taste when you fish the murky waters.

Natural baits such as minnows, crawfish or a gob of worms will attract feeding fish, regardless of conditions. To make it more noticeable, attach a cork carved into a concave shape about two feet up from the hook. When this cork and bait are cast, a loud "plop" reverberates through the water. This rig can be either cast or jigged up and down briskly with a long cane pole, and with surprising results.

To locate fish, try to cover as much as possible by cruising slowly, but steadily, along the shoreline. Carefully work around stumps and rocks where fish are almost certain to be, and look for spots where the muddy water is just starting to clear. Give this a try; it's a method that might become your favorite.

DON'T PASS UP that ultra-clear lake either just because you can see the bottom, and the fish can see you. Or, just because you've gone home empty-handed from this same body of water a couple of times in the past, don't quit now.

When the water's clear, fish don't have any trouble seeing your offerings. That's the problem—they see too well. Swivels look like a string of diamonds, a 12-pound line like a hawser. The net result must look something similar to an excursion special and about as appetizing and reassuring to the fish. Sometimes a bass will mosey over to see what the commotion is all about, but it seldom induces a strike, unless he gets mighty indignant over this invasion of his territory.

However, this same fish can be caught, and ethically, too. Just subdue your piscatorial promotion from something slightly more extravagant than a brass band to some Sunday afternoon dinner strains. In other words, clear water proves the falsity of the old axiom of "big baits for big fish."

Resort to extremely light tackle: tiny spinning and small spinning lures or midget trolling spoons. Use five-foot leaders on casting gear. Or, when bait fishing, select the smallest hook possible and attach just the runts out of the minnow bucket. Fish right off the bank, and at dusk for the best results.

Clear water is often the best water, because it's fished least. Give it a try, you may be in for a big surprise.

A THERMOMETER is one of the best "lures" a man can own.

You may not rate it in the same class as pork rind or a "river runt," but it'll account for just as many fish. Next to an outboard motor, this fragile tube is one of the most effective fish-finding devices known to anglers.

Water temperature, as much as any other factor, governs the habits of your favorite game fish. It determines when and where they feed, and often sends you home empty-handed.

Fish have definite needs. Principally, they require oxygen. This vital element escapes into the atmosphere as the water warms. That's why summer fishing is best at considerable depths while fall fishing need not be so deep.

To check water temperatures, try a minimum-reading thermometer attached to a line with knots tied at three-foot intervals. Probe the depths until you reach the preferred temperature belt. When you've determined the proper fishing depth, you'll save your casting arm, and you'll catch more fish.

Ask your local conservation official for specific information on the temperature preferences of the fish you seek, as different species favor different water temperatures. The next time you inventory the tackle box, jot down a thermometer along with new plugs needed.

Heralding "National Beauty Salon Week" is Jeanne Quick of LaCroft shown with a "yards of hair" coiffure created by Clyde Silverthorn, styles director of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association Unit 15, sponsoring next week's observance. The effect is achieved by using the model's own hair and numerous hairpieces. The face is fringed with cork-screw curls, topped with fair-lady curls with rag-curls cascading from the side and accentuated with a scented flower. This motif was typical of what the grand ladies of Paris wore during the 18th Century. Miss Quick is a student at the A. & H. School of Beauty Culture.

Potters Beat Salem 54-38, Clinch Big 8 Basketball Title

McCONNELL MAD. East Liverpool High Coach Clint McConnell angrily orders John Johnson to the bench after the Potter cager had been involved in an altercation with Salem Coach John Cabas. Other Potters are Bill Montgomery (right) and Dan Cunningham (with mask).

Defense Tough, Christian Stars

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Showing a real team effort, the East Liverpool Potters fashioned a 54-38 win over Salem at the new gym last night, gaining revenge for last year's lone regular season basketball loss and clinching the Big 8 basketball title.

The game was closer than the score indicated and was filled with tension until the end. The tension exploded with 1:11 left in the third period, when the teams engaged in a melee.

Jerry Christian, as usual, led the Potters. He scored 18 points and grabbed 13 rebounds, despite missing nearly a quarter due to foul trouble. Rick Steffen added 14 points. John Johnson played another outstanding defensive game, holding Quaker high scorer George Spack to three field goals. Johnson also scored 9 points and grabbed 8 rebounds. Bill Montgomery came through with 8 points, including two crucial long-range shots, and Steve Douglas leaped for nine rebounds, many of them on the offensive boards.

The entire team was "high" for the game, but Christian higher than anyone. He leaped well over the rim for rebounds on numerous occasions and could not be stopped by Salem when he got the ball on offense.

THE POTTERS had a solid 40-27 rebounding margin, and hit 44 per cent to 33 per cent for the losers. They committed only 11 turnovers, five in the final period, and Salem lost the ball 10 times in the well-played game. Both defenses gave up shots grudgingly, but East Liverpool was more patient in seeking the good shot.

The win was the 50th at East Liverpool for coach Clint McConnell in less than three seasons. He lost 8. The Potters are now 14-1 and have won 11 in a row. Salem is 12-4.

Salem led 7-6 when Christian scored on three straight tip-ins, one a tremendous second-effort play of his own missed shot, and added a foul for a 13-7 Potter lead. At this point coach John Cabas ordered the Quakers to switch from a zone to a man-to-man defense, sagging on Christian.

Salem came back and led 18-17 and 20-19 in the second period. The Potters then scored 11 points in a row to take the lead for good, but it wasn't easy. Montgomery had hit two long shots to keep the Potters close when Christian was cut off.

CHRISTIAN HIT a pair of fouls to make it 21-20. Steffen followed with a basket and Johnson made two more fouls. With 1:31 left in the half Christian went to the bench with his fourth personal, and things looked gloomy for Potter fans. Salem reverted to a man-to-man defense, but Steffen drove in for a basket to make it 27-20 at halftime, as the Potter defense continued to contain the Quakers.

With Christian still on the bench as the third period opened, the Potters controlled the tip and went into a stall. 1:20 elapsed before Douglas tipped in a shot and 3:25 went by before Salem scored. Don Shivers and Larry Hrvatin closed the gap to 31-26 and Christian reentered the game.

It was 32-26 when the brawl erupted. Hrvatin shoved Dan Cunningham on the guard protecting his broken nose, and Cunningham shoved back. Christian swung at Hrvatin, and Tom Fisher came running off the Salem bench to join the action, which was under the basket at the south end of the gym, closer to the Potter bench. Coach Cabas also came off the bench, and hit Johnson, who retaliated. By this time police were on the floor, and pulled all the combatants apart and escorted Cabas back to his bench. One of the Salem cheerleaders, Cindy Brown, was banged against the wall during the action and hurt her head, going to the hospital. After the fracas, the cheerleaders tore down some of the numerous signs exhorting the Potters, upsetting the crowd still farther.

CHRISTIAN HAD been fouled by Hrvatin on the play and made a foul shot when things quieted down. Montgomery followed with a jump shot and Christian made a lay-up to widen the gap to 37-26 as the final quarter opened.

Salem made two baskets in a row, but then East Liverpool outscored the Quakers 9-2, the capper being a three-point play by Johnson, to wrap it up at 46-32.

McConnell, while not happy over the fistic propensities of his team, was pleased with the way the Potters worked the ball on offense and was especially happy with the defensive job Johnson did on Spack. The Quaker guard, who had been averaging 21 points a game, was held to 11, and was the only Quaker to score in double figures. Hrvatin was top rebounder with 7.

The reserve game was a different story, as an effective Salem press helped crush the locals 62-41. Dan Russell had 19, Jim Bettis, a transfer from Southern Local, 12 and Jim Shoff 10. Joe March led the losers, 7-8, with 10.

Salem scored 15 in a row to take an 18-2 lead. The Potters got back to 28-17, but never really threatened. They had a 52-43 rebounding edge, but committed a horrible 30 turnovers to 13 for the winners. The margin was 27-7 going into the final period. Salem, 10-5, hit 37 per cent to 31 per cent for East Liverpool.

SHORT SHOTS — Coach McConnell used every trick he could think of to psych up the Potters prior to the game. The walls were covered with signs, and each player on the squad was spotlighted in a darkened gym when he was introduced, as it is done in Wellsville.

The gym was filled to capacity for the first time this year, making the 2,400 crowd the largest to ever see a basketball game in East Liverpool. Salem was given 350 tickets, quite a few more than the 60 allotted to East Liverpool for the game at Salem last year. The Quakers brought along a noisy delegation. Quick work by the police prevented fans from coming out of the stands to join the riot.

Midland Keeps Rolling

By JOHN MUELLER

The Midland Leopards rolled to their 10th straight Section 6 win, downing Hopewell 67-51 at the Midland gym last night.

The Vikings made a game of it and kept the Leopards working for a little over two periods. Hopewell's tight floating zone jammed the center and forced the Leopards to work for an open man the entire first half. Once Midland had surged in to a comfortable lead the Vikings went into a man to man and the Leopards' road to the win was a trifle easier.

The Hopewell zone, effective throughout the first period, forced Midland to resort to the passing, waiting game and the Leopards sprung the man loose for the score. The Vikings, concentrating on George Green and Greg Vanlier, gave Fred Sallis the opportunity to take the open shot and the little forward responded with three baseline jumpers of about eight feet in the opening session.

Hopewell never led in the contest but managed to tie the Leopards on two occasions in the first period, at 2-2 and 11-11 at the end of the period. The Leopards reeled off six straight points at the start of the second period and were never headed.

Sallis opened the scoring for Midland at 7-41. Both defenses were tight and there was no more scoring until Mike Karas sank a fielder at 5-41 to tie it. Howard Leak converted a pair of charity tosses and Sallis split the cords again to make it 6-2 with 5:01 to play. The Leopards moved ahead 9-5 with 2:23 on the clock.

Joe Molinaro converted a pair of fouls but Jackie Campbell scored on a layup on an assist from Greg Vanlier to keep Midland ahead 11-7 with 1:22 to play. Tom Minzak scored for the Vikings and Karas followed with a two-pointer at the 23-second mark to tie the score at 11 at the end of the quarter.

Midland went ahead, scoring six straight points as Campbell opened with a field goal at 7:38. Green converted a foul, Leak dropped in a basket and Green was successful again from the charity line. The Vikings were never able to catch up. Midland went ahead by ten, 23-13, with 3:34 to play in the period. The Vikings cut into the margin and Midland led by five, 26-21, at the intermission.

The Leopards moved ahead steadily in the third stanza. Green and Vanlier paced the Leopards in this quarter, with eight and six points respectively. Green was clearing the boards and his two tip-ins in succession gave the Leopards 36-27 lead with 4:33 to play. Midland led by as much as 14 points, 44-30, in this period but settled for a 46-34 margin at the end of the quarter. Hopewell cut the margin to nine points in the final session before Midland started to move again. Two vital three-point plays in succession, the first by Leak at the 3:40 mark and then by Vanlier with 3:13 on the clock, killed the Vikings' chances of an upset as Midland led 59-44. They kept the margin intact and went on to win 67-51.

Although the Vikings had a slight edge in height, Midland gave them a battle for control of the boards and it ended in a stalemate as each team picked off 33 rebounds. Green grabbed 13 for the Leopards. Molinaro and Karas each had eight rebounds for Hopewell.

Green of the Leopards and Karas of Hopewell shared scoring honors, each tallying 16. Midland had four players in double figures as Vanlier added 14, Leak 13 and Sallis 10. Sallis tallied on five field goals, all in the first half, missing on one attempt. He backed off in the final two periods, drawing the Viking defense out and turning the scoring over to Green and Vanlier. He made just one attempt and missed, ending the night with a five out of seven count.

Molinaro tallied 14 points for the Vikings. The Leopards had a hot night from the field, hitting 27 field goals in 51 attempts for 52.9 per cent. Hopewell tried 58 shots and made 19 for a 32.8 per cent.

The Midland JV's lost a thrilling 46-43 decision to the Hopewell JV's in the preliminary.

Four players shared scoring honors each with 11 points, Greg Burks of Midland and John Stoken, Randy Peretich and Jim Williams of Hopewell. Midland travels to New Brighton for an important section game on Tuesday night.

Potters Beat Salem 54-38, Clinch Big 8 Basketball Title

MCCONNELL MAD. East Liverpool High Coach Clint McConnell angrily orders John Johnson to the bench after the Potter cager had been involved in an altercation with Salem Coach John Cabas. Other Potters are Bill Montgomery (right) and Dan Cunningham (with mask).

Defense Tough, Christian Stars

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Showing a real team effort, the East Liverpool Potters fashioned a 54-38 win over Salem at the new gym last night, gaining revenge for last year's lone regular season basketball loss and clinching the Big 8 basketball title.

The game was closer than the score indicated and was filled with tension until the end. The tension exploded with 1:11 left in the third period, when the teams engaged in a melee.

Jerry Christian, as usual, led the Potters. He scored 18 points and grabbed 13 rebounds, despite missing nearly a quarter due to foul trouble. Rick Steffen added 14 points. John Johnson played another outstanding defensive game, holding Quaker high scorer George Spack to three field goals. Johnson also scored 9 points and grabbed 8 rebounds. Bill Montgomery came through with 8 points, including two crucial long-range shots, and Steve Douglas leaped for nine rebounds, many of them on the offensive boards.

The entire team was "high" for the game, but Christian higher than anyone. He leaped well over the rim for rebounds on numerous occasions and could not be stopped by Salem when he got the ball on offense.

THE POTTERS had a solid 40-27 rebounding margin, and hit 44 per cent to 33 per cent for the losers. They committed only 11 turnovers, five in the final period, and Salem lost the ball 10 times in the well-played game. Both defenses gave up shots grudgingly, but East Liverpool was more patient in seeking the good shot.

The win was the 50th at East Liverpool for coach Clint McConnell in less than three seasons. He lost 8. The Potters are now 14-1 and have won 11 in a row. Salem is 12-4.

Salem led 7-6 when Christian scored on three straight tip-ins, one a tremendous second-effort play of his own missed shot, and added a foul for a 13-7 Potter lead. At this point coach John Cabas ordered the Quakers to switch from a zone to a man-to-man defense, sagging on Christian.

Salem came back and led 18-17 and 20-19 in the second period. The Potters then scored 11 points in a row to take the lead for good, but it wasn't easy. Montgomery had hit two long shots to keep the Potters close when Christian was cut off.

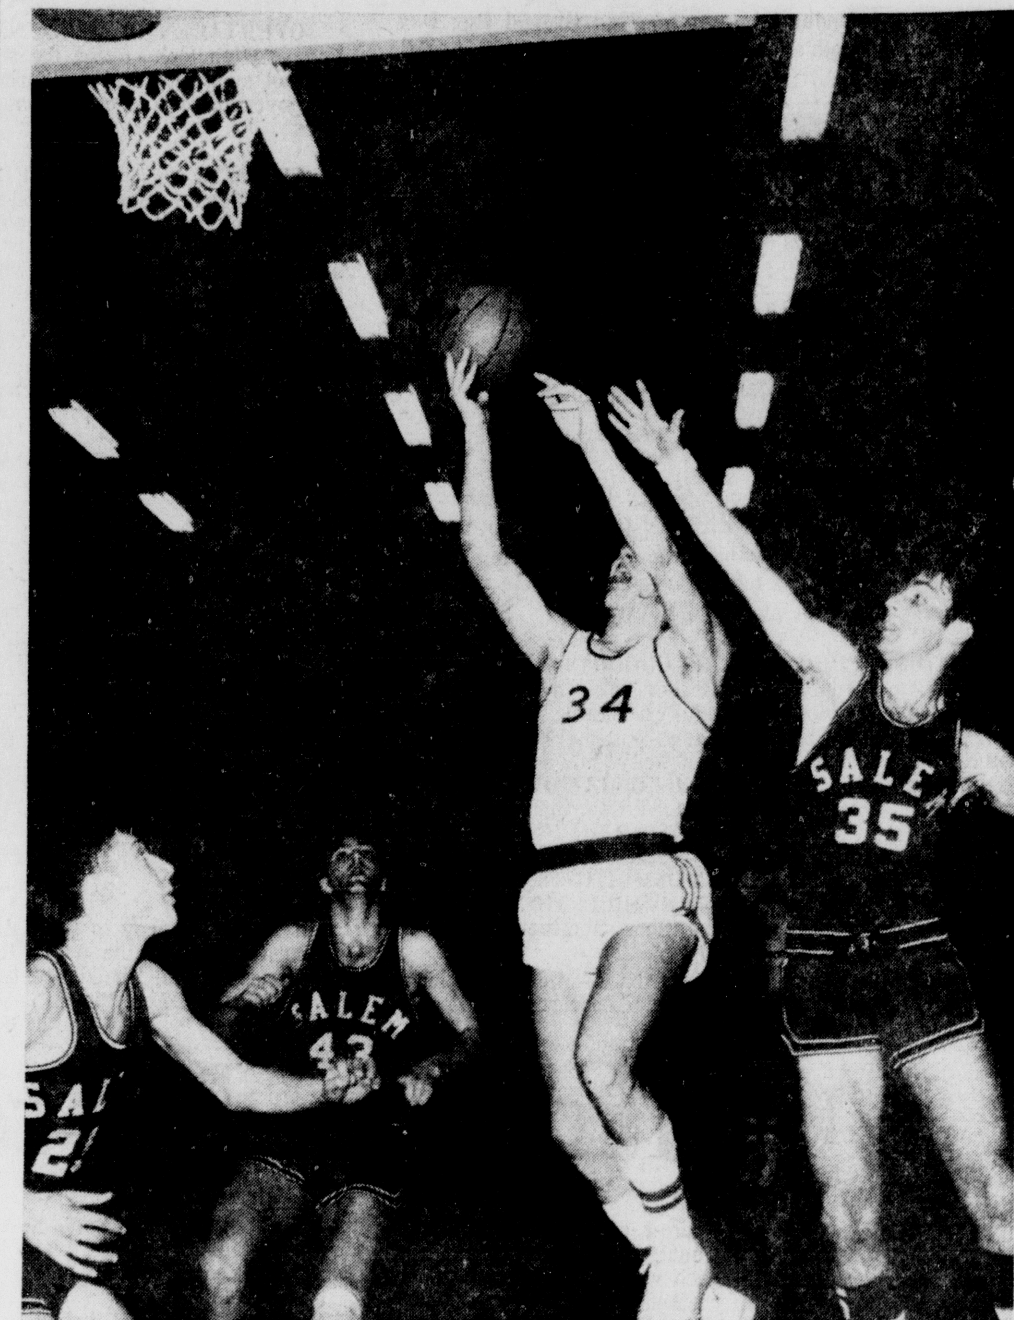

CHRISTIAN HIT a pair of fouls to make it 21-20. Steffen followed with a basket and Johnson made two more fouls. With 1:31 left in the half Christian went to the bench with his fourth personal, and things looked gloomy for Potter fans. Salem reverted to a man-to-man defense, but Steffen drove in for a basket to make it 27-20 at halftime, as the Potter defense continued to contain the Quakers.

With Christian still on the bench as the third period opened, the Potters controlled the tip and went into a stall. 1:20 elapsed before Douglas tipped in a shot and 3:25 went by before Salem scored. Don Shivers and Larry Hrvatin closed the gap to 31-26 and Christian re-entered the game.

It was 32-26 when the brawl erupted. Hrvatin shoved Dan Cunningham on the guard protecting his broken nose, and Cunningham shoved back. Christian swung at Hrvatin, and Tom Fisher came running off the Salem bench to join the action, which was under the basket at the south end of the gym, closer to the Potter bench. Coach Cabas also came off the bench, and hit Johnson, who retaliated. By this time police were on the floor, and pulled

Columbia Is Upset Victim

UCLA, Santa Clara Roll Along On Unbeaten Trail

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Towering Lew Alcindor has added another first to his awesome list of accomplishments for the mighty UCLA Bruins, the country's No. 1 college basketball team.

The 7-foot-1½ agile All-American, who usually grabs the rebound and quickly passes off, twice intercepted passes and dribbled the length of the court Friday night as the Bruins rolled over Washington 62-51 for their 33rd straight victory, 17 of them this season. No one could recall Alcindor doing that before in his varsity career.

The first time Big Lew dribbled the length of the Pauley Pavilion court he passed off for an easy basket. The second time he scored himself and finished the game as UCLA high scorer with 28 points.

Third-ranked Santa Clara, the only other major unbeaten team, made it 19 in a row by downing Los Angeles Loyola 82-65. Columbia, 14th-ranked nationally and the only other team in The Associated Press Top Twenty to play, was upset by Princeton 68-49 and tumbled out of a tie for first place in the Ivy League.

Washington Huskies, led by

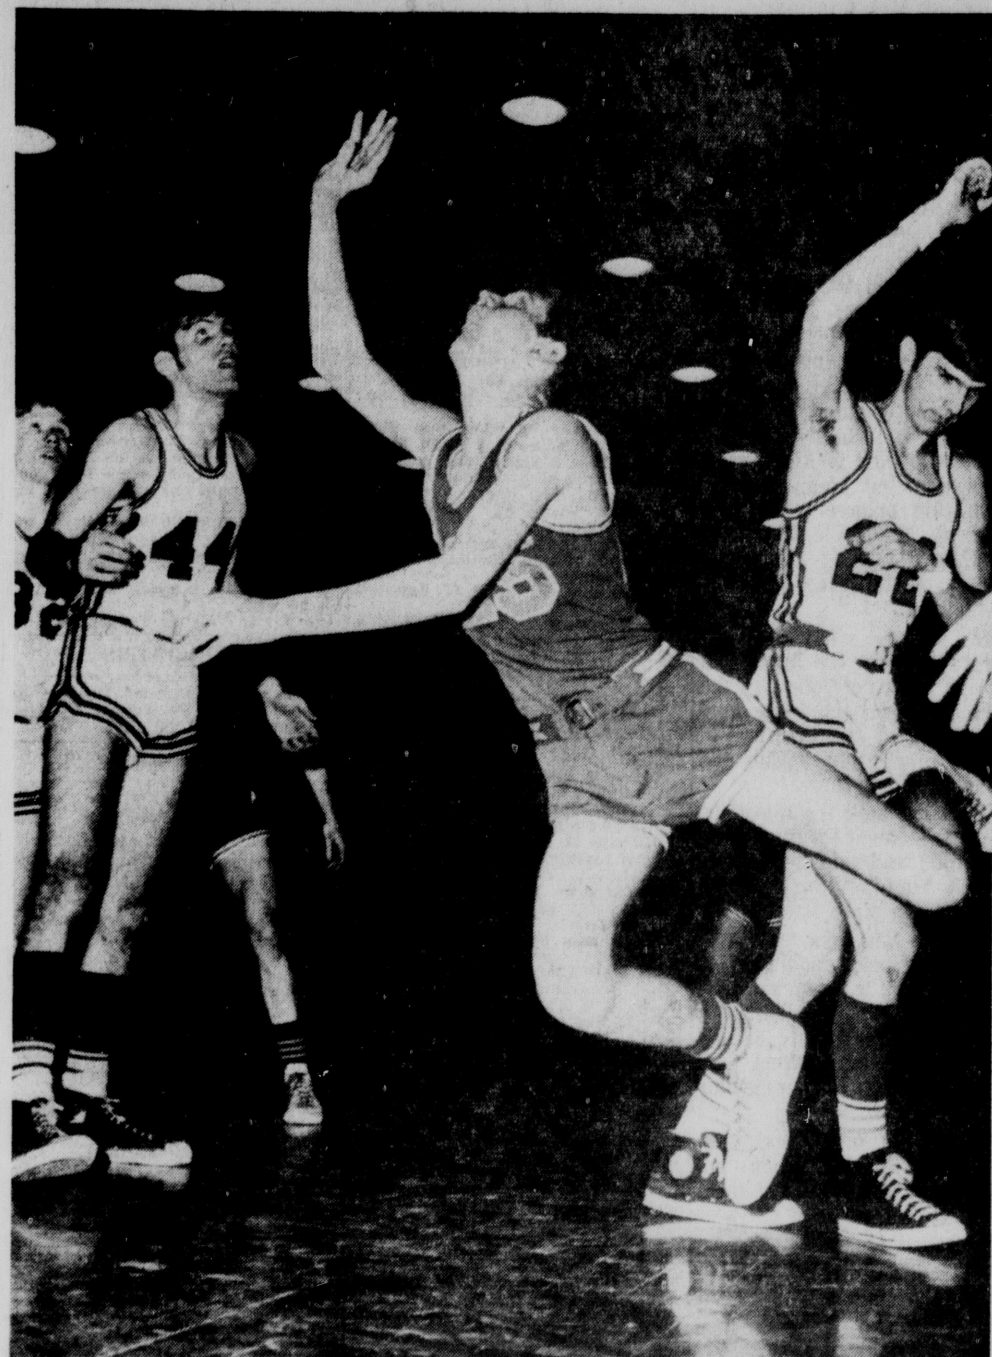

George Irvine's 21 points, took an early nine-point lead and were ahead at the half 33-29, but collapsed in the second half under the pressure of UCLA's zone press. Alcindor's two full-court dribbles helped break the game open.

Santa Clara trailed Loyola early in the second half 37-36, but the Broncos pulled away after a basket by Dennis Awtry put them ahead for keeps. Awtry and Ralph Ogden each scored 30 points for the Broncos in their home court triumph.

Jeff Petrie's 30 points paced Princeton's Nassau Tigers to their victory over Columbia and into undisputed possession of first place in the Ivy League. A 24-7 burst in the last 10 minutes broke open the game at Princeton. Jim McMillian was high for Columbia with 23 points.

In other Ivy contests, Penn beat Cornell 73-56, Yale took Harvard 76-70 and Dartmouth whipped Brown 81-68. In Pacific-8 games, Oregon edged Stanford 74-72, California downed Oregon State 69-57 and Washington State nipped Southern California in overtime 72-70.

Holy Cross defeated Seton Hall 74-67, Temple routed Lafayette 72-53 and Florida State beat Clemson 70-67 in other major games.

CARTER CHARGE. Bob Carter of Southern Local scores despite stumbling in a 75-65 win at Beaver Local last night. Beavers watching are Dan Myers (32), Dave Mason (44) and Rick Sheppard (22).

Funseth Has Stroke Lead In Hope Play

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — The 10th annual Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic reaches the 72-hole point today with Rod Funseth on top for the second straight round.

But don't go away, folks. There is still another 18-hole round to play Sunday to wind up the 90-hole, world's longest golf tournament.

Funseth has only a slim lead of one stroke over a proven tournament performer, National Open champion Lee Trevino. And such chargers as defending champion Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Bill Casper are still within challenging range.

Tid at 209 were Frank Beard and Art Wall, who had one-under-par 71s Friday, and Gene Littler and newcomer Orville Moody, who had 68s.

Casper and lefty Bob Charles occupied the 210 pew, while Palmer, with a third-round 69, was alone at 214. Nicklaus' 74 left him in a big group at 217.

First Female Jockey

Girl Breaks Barrier With Ride At Hialeah

By FRANK MURRAY

MIAMI (AP) — One Hialeah rail bird told another "From now on when the morning line says 'No Boy' on a horse, it means Diane Crump is riding." Not quite, it still means no jockey. But the tack rooms and paddocks of the major pari-mutuel thoroughbred tracks in America no longer are a man's world.

Diane Crump, 20, a cute blonde exercise girl who forgets things when she gets excited—and probably was the only jockey blushing while saddling up—pushed a slow horse for a mile and one-eighth Friday, placing 10th in the 12-horse First Family Purse.

But even most male jockeys praised her ride and it was a first for any woman in this country.

"I did okay for the first time. Everything was just as I expected," Diane said later, her red and white silks and pink face heavily splattered with track mud.

Another girl jockey, Annbeth Reinert, 20, of Oslo, Norway, who has ridden only against girls on European tracks, watched Diane climb aboard the skittish Bridle 'n Bit owned by Tom Calumet of Chicago.

"I don't believe women can ride against professional jockeys. I don't believe she can be that good," Miss Reinert said.

But after the race the blonde Norwegian shook her head and her firm opposition. "She rode very well. She didn't do anything wrong. The horse was just no good."

Unknown to most of the crowd of 15,791, Diane began and ended by forgetting important details. In the starting gate she was listening to jockey Craig Perret give tips on how to handle Bridle 'n Bit when he interrupted to say, "Diane, you'd better put your goggles down." She had forgotten.

Riding past Rooney's Shield in the winner's circle, Diane apparently was rattled by cheers for her from the crowd, who apparently backed her in spirit although not at the tote windows. She dismounted and walked away without unsaddling her 50-1 horse for the weigh-in.

"I don't think I really forgot. They just dragged me away," she said.

Before she got the mud washed off, the Woodmont, Conn. girl who began riding when her family moved to Oldsmar, Fla., six years ago, was scheduled to go to the post here again next Tuesday—once again aboard Bridle 'n Bit.

Davenport Ties World High Hurdle Record

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Watch out for Willie Davenport if he ever feels good during a race.

Davenport, the Olympic 110-meter high hurdles champion and recently drafted by the San Diego Chargers of the American Football League, tied the world indoor record of 6.8 seconds in the 60-yard high hurdles Friday night in the ninth annual Fort Worth Coaches Indoor Games.

And he said he didn't feel good doing it.

"My knee was stiff at the start of the run but was okay by the time I reached the second hurdle," Davenport said. "I didn't feel like I was going very fast. This is a nice track. I like it."

Davenport had to share the spotlight before 7,856 in the new Tarrant County Convention Center even though it was his 10th consecutive victory indoors.

Tom Von Ruden, an Olympian who is now in the Army, grabbed a share of the most valuable performer award with an American record in the 1,000-yard run.

Von Ruden, wheeled off a 2:07.7 to beat the listed American record of 2:07.8 set by Ted Nelson.

Davenport was asked when he planned to sign with the chargers. He smiled and said "Right now I'm concentrating on track."

There were disappointments. World record holder Bob Beamon failed to compete in the long jump because of a pulled hamstring muscle. Bob Seagrren, the world and Olympic champion, could manage but 16-feet, 6-1 inches in the pole vault, which tied the meet record.

In all five meet records were broken and two were tied.

Texas set a meet record in the mile relay with a time of 3:15.7. Clyde Glossen of the University of Texas at El Paso flashed to a 300-yard dash mark of 30.7 to erase the mark of 31.2 by Tony Pickett of Houston in 1967.

UT-El Paso also set a record in the two-mile relay with 7:31.5.

Charlie Greene tied the meet record of 6.0 in the 60-yard dash.

Columbia Is Upset Victim

UCLA, Santa Clara Roll Along On Unbeaten Trail

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Towering Lew Alcindor has added another first to his awesome list of accomplishments for the mighty UCLA Bruins, the country's No. 1 college basketball team.

The 7-foot-1½ agile All-American, who usually grabs the rebound and quickly passes off, twice intercepted passes and dribbled the length of the court Friday night as the Bruins rolled over Washington 62-51 for their 33rd straight victory, 17 of them this season. No one could recall Alcindor doing that before in his varsity career.

The first time Big Lew dribbled the length of the Pauley Pavilion court he passed off for an easy basket. The second time he scored himself and finished the game as UCLA high scorer with 28 points.

Third-ranked Santa Clara, the only other major unbeaten team, made it 19 in a row by downing Los Angeles Loyola 82-65. Columbia, 14th-ranked nationally and the only other team in The Associated Press Top Twenty to play, was upset by Princeton 68-49 and tumbled out of a tie for first place in the Ivy League.

Washington Huskies, led by

George Irvine's 21 points, took an early nine-point lead and were ahead at the half 37-29, but collapsed in the second half under the pressure of UCLA's zone press. Alcindor's two full-court dribbles helped break the game open.

Santa Clara trailed Loyola early in the second half 37-36, but the Broncos pulled away after a basket by Dennis Awtrey put them ahead for keeps. Awtrey and Ralph Ogden each scored 30 points for the Broncos in their home court triumph. Jeff Petrie's 30 points paced Princeton's Nassau Tigers to their victory over Columbia and into undisputed possession of first place in the Ivy League. A 24-7 burst in the last 10 minutes broke open the game at Princeton. Jim McMillian was high for Columbia with 23 points.

In other Ivy contests, Penn beat Cornell 73-56. Yale took Harvard 76-70 and Dartmouth whipped Brown 81-68. In Pacific-8 games, Oregon edged Stanford 74-72. California downed Oregon State 69-57 and Washington State nipped Southern California in overtime 72-70.

Holy Cross defeated Seton Hall 74-67. Temple routed Lafayette 72-53 and Florida State beat Clemson 70-67 in other major games.

First Female Jockey

Girl Breaks Barrier With Ride At Hialeah

By FRANK MURRAY

MIAMI (AP) — One Hialeah rail bird told another: "From now on when the morning line says 'No Boy' on a horse, it means Diane Crump is riding."

Not quite, it still means no jockey. But the tack rooms and paddocks of the major pari-mutuel thoroughbred tracks in America no longer are a man's world.

Diane Crump, 20, a cute blonde exercise girl who forgets things when she gets excited—and probably was the only jockey blushing while saddling up, pushed a slow horse for a mile and one-eighth Friday, placing 10th in the 12-horse First Family Purse.

But even most male jockeys praised her ride and it was a first for any woman in this country.

"I did okay for the first time. Everything was just as I expected," Diane said later, her red and white silks and pink face heavily splattered with track mud.

Another girl jockey, Annabeth Reinett, 20, of Oslo, Norway, who has ridden only against girls on European tracks, watched Diane climb aboard the skittish Bridle 'n Bit when he was scheduled to go to the post here again next Tuesday—once again aboard Bridle 'n Bit.

Before she got the mud washed off, the Woodmont, Conn., girl who began riding when her family moved to Oldsmar, Fla., six years ago, was scheduled to go to the post here again next Tuesday—once again aboard Bridle 'n Bit.

mon failed to compete in the long jump because of a pulled hamstring muscle. Bob Seagraves, the world and Olympic champion, could manage but 16-feet, 6-1 inches in the pole vault, which tied the meet record.

In all five meet records were broken and two were tied.

Texas set a meet record in the mile relay with a time of 3:15.7. Clyde Glessen of the University of Texas at El Paso flashed to a 300-yard dash mark of 30.7 to erase the mark of 31.2 by Tony Pickett of Houston in 1967.

UT-El Paso also set a record in the two-mile relay with 7:31.5.

Charlie Greene tied the meet record of 6.0 in the 60-yard dash.

Billy Hardwick Tops Finalists In Bowling

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Billy Hardwick of Louisville, Ky., who became a father earlier in the day, led four other finalists into today's nationally televised finals in the Professional Bowlers Association $45,000 Denver Open.

Hardwick totaled 9091 for 40 games. This included four 450 bonus pins he collected for winning 9 of his 16 matches in Friday's semifinals.

Hardwick's finals in Saturday's action will be Dick Ritger of Hartford, Wis., Pete Tountas of Tucson, Ariz., Mike Durbin of Burbank, Calif., and Teata Semiz of River Edge, N. J.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Storing Wedding Veils

DEAR FOLKS: We asked you for ideas on storing and preserving wedding veils to keep them from yellowing, and you certainly had plenty of answers.

Most folks said to have wedding veils and gowns cleaned professionally and then to wrap them in black or dark blue tissue paper before placing them in a sturdy box. The box should then be SEALED well to prevent dust, air and light from entering.

If you don't have a real sturdy box, you might try, like one lass, sealing the gown and veil in a plastic foam ice chest after proper cleaning and wrapping. It's lightweight and provides good storage.

Of course, there are many dry cleaners who will preserve wedding gowns and veils professionally. But for those who wish to do their own, try the above suggestions.

And my blessings and love go to each of you sweet new-ladies.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Tell me, whatever happened to whistling? It not only improves the lines around the mouth, but lifts the spirits and makes the day brighter and cheerier.

JOY.

Dear HELOISE: I had an old treadle sewing machine bought secondhand during the depression just after I married. My husband removed the machine part but left the foot pedal and wheel. I painted it and placed a big metal hot pad over the hole where the machine was and set my typewriter on top. (Any board could be used for this purpose.)

Now I have a place to put my feet and can even move them up and down for exercise. Also have the lovely drawers for pencils, erasers, stamps, cards, clips, etc.

What a wonderful, and free, typing desk I now have.

MRS. EDWIN J. MURRAY.

DEAR HELOISE: A man's tie rack — the kind that fastens to the wall and spins — makes a super-duper pot holder rack!

MRS. JUDI GIDUS.

DEAR HELOISE: When I turn on my headlights on a rainy or foggy day, I quite often forget to turn them off when I leave the car.

To avoid running down the battery, I now keep a loop of red ribbon on the light button. When I turn on the lights, I transfer the bright ribbon to my arm.

When I leave the car, I, of course, notice this warning, and remember to turn off the lights which may otherwise not be noticed in daylight.

Sure saves the car battery.

HELEN LOTRECK.

DEAR HELOISE: I would like to pass on two hints I have used to make living a little easier for an arthritic.

First, the weight of the bed covers over my feet has been eliminated by using a bed rail (the type that slips in between the mattress and springs) across the foot of the bed.

The covers are then raised up over this rail and do not touch my feet. This has increased the number of hours I sleep in comfort.

Then my daughter-in-law gave me a cake of soap with a cord imbedded in it for my birthday. Now I can just put it around my arm and there is no danger of dropping the soap while taking a shower and having to stoop over to retrieve it. It is always in reach when I need it.

No nice.

T. M. JONES.

DEAR HELOISE: Please remind "chapeaux" lovers that old lampshades (the small ones) make excellent hat stands in the closet.

They can be covered with adhesive-backed plastic or painted to blend with any color scheme if desired.

LAURA JUNKIN.

After buying your meat, buy your dairy products. Always be extravagant on eggs, oleo and cheese. These are used for all meals and are wonderful food stretchers.

Try using oleo for frying. Sometimes it is less expensive than shortening. Compare the prices PER POUND. You'll see.

Never run out of potatoes. They can be cooked many ways and taste good with anything.

It is agreed that so much a week should be your allowance for groceries... be sure it's really spent for food. Cigarettes, school supplies, aspirin, drinks and cough syrup are NOT food.

To test this, go into the store some day and buy NOTHING except food and check OUT! Then go back through the store and buy those other things. You will find that the real demon in that basket is not what you eat!

If you have a freezer, buy pies, meats, vegetables and anything when it's on sale... this is a way to save on your budget. When day-old bread is on sale, buy this too, and freeze it. (Have you ever thought the very loaf of bread you bought yesterday IS one day old? Go look right now and see how fresh that still is!) Day-old bread is much cheaper.

In one year's time you probably will have saved enough money on groceries to pay for your freezer. We did.

No nice.

HELOISE.

Let's Peek At Hal's Mail

By HAL BOYLE.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The older you are the more likely you are to observe your democratic duties, such as voting regularly. A survey found that people over 65, by a 5-2 margin, voted more often than those under 30.

Speaking of age, one reason we may shrink from it is because it shrinks us. If you are 40 years old, you are not as tall as you were at 20. Furthermore, in another 20 years you will shrink another half-inch.

We tend to speak of any winter storm as a blizzard, but the U.S. Weather Bureau says you don't have a blizzard unless you have winds of 35 miles an hour, much snow, and a temperature of 20 degrees Fahrenheit or lower. A severe blizzard, the bureau says, is marked by snow, 45 mile an hour winds or higher, and a temperature of 10 degrees or less.

What to do with the things we're through with is becoming a major problem in this country. We have to dump or discard more than 165 million tons of solid waste material each year, not counting the waste products of agriculture and industry. That's more than three-quarters of a ton for every American.

Do you wear safety glasses? If we all wore them, opticians say, 90 per cent of the half-million eye injuries occurring each year could be avoided.

Quotable notables: "To be in love is merely to be in a state of perpetual anesthesia." —H. L. Mencken.

Man's problem used to be to go out and bring the bacon home to mama. But the American married woman today is getting to be more and more a help in providing for the family. Some 16 million wives now hold jobs outside the home.

Those good old days: A Manhattan restaurant, reviewing one of its 1868 menus, found that 100 years ago it charged 4 cents for a beef steak, 2 cents for pie, a penny for coffee. It figured out that a meal which cost 12 cents a century ago would cost $9.50 now.

Apt definition: A sociologist once described the telephone as "the greatest nuisance among conveniences and the greatest convenience among nuisances."

Remember when every mother wanted her boy to grow up and work at a job where he'd wear a white collar? Well, today some 17 million of us are white collar workers, 14 million of us are blue collar workers. But many a white collar worker feels blue when he looks at his take-home pay and compares it with the money some of the guys who carry lunch pails get.

It was Mark Twain who observed, "When people do not respect us we are sharply offended; yet deep down in his private heart no man much respects himself."

Youth Robbed, Stuffed In Dryer

TITUSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Police say a 20-year-old youth is recovering from burns today after he was robbed and then stuffed in a heavy-duty dryer in a downtown laundromat.

They said Jerald Richard Kinney of Route 3, Titusville, was washing clothes at the laundromat early Friday when he was accosted by three men. They took his cash, police said, and then put him in the machine and turned it on.

Detectives said the dryer operates for 10-minute cycles and reaches a temperature of 205 degrees. They said a janitor heard Kinney's screams when he reported for work. He was taken to Titusville Hospital where he was listed in satisfactory condition.

Missing $400 Located In Probe At Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — A reported theft of $400 Friday night from a city service station was solved by police this morning when it was discovered the money was temporarily misplaced.

Scottie McIluff of Negley-Peace Valley Rd. reported to police last night the money had been taken from a box in the Mac's Pure Oil Service Station at W. Main and S. Market Sts. Investigation revealed this morning the money had been relocated in the station by another on the staff without advising McIluff.

Demonstrators Lash At Drug 'Informers'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — University of Pittsburgh officials have been urged to investigate claims that the FBI is paying student informers to keep tabs on drug and draft resistance activities on campus.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — Is there a way I can insure continuity of electrical contact between the sections of a television "rabbit-ears" type of TV antenna?

A. — Yes — by painting the entire lengths of these arms with some silver or copper conductive paint.

Q. — How can I prevent my wire garment hangers from rusting clothes?

A. — By winding some cellulose tape around the hangers.

Q. — How can I make wall-paper washable?

A. — One often — successful way to do this is first to go over the paper with sizing, then with a clear shellac. A damp cloth will clean it easily thereafter.

Q. — How can I open hard-shelled clams easily?

A. — By pouring boiling water over them, and then allowing to stand for two or three minutes.

Q. — How can I remove ink spots from wood?

A. — Try using a mixture of equal parts linseed oil and vinegar, applying lightly to the affected surfaces. Many other such tips on the care and cleaning of woodwork are contained in my household book.

Man, 22, Sentenced On Assault Charges

LISBON — Terry Thompson, 22, of Center St., Wellsville, was sentenced Friday by Judge J. L. MacDonald in Columbiana County Southwest Court to concurrent sentences of three months in the County Jail on two counts of assault and battery on Paul M. Erwin of 216 Alton St., East Liverpool.

The affidavits filed by Chief of Police John Hephner of Wellsville state that both offenses occurred Feb. 5. One of the assaults took place in the Wellsville jail.

Erwin was transferred to Pittsburgh Wednesday after treatment at East Liverpool City Hospital for a possible fractured jaw and fractured skull.

Man Cut Above Ear When Car Hits Tree

LISBON — Kenneth W. Lanning, 48, of East Liverpool Rd. 1 received a cut above the left ear when the car he was driving struck a tree here at 11:20 p.m. Friday.

Police said Lanning was headed on E. Lincoln Way (U.S. Route 30) and ran off the right side near the Exchange St. junction. They said the driver told them he fell asleep. The front end of the 1966 sedan was demolished.

Robert W. Steele, 28, of North Lawrence, cited here this morning for speeding and passing at an intersection, forfeited a $15 bond on each count.

Camera Enthusiasts Hear Talk By Eckert

Don Eckert discussed a national value and the proper contrast for black and white prints when the Tri-State Camera Club met Friday night at the gas company building in Glenmoor. He also recalled some of the area's photographers of the past. Slides were shown and recent trips reviewed. Paul Ward presided.

Firm Granted Election Pact

The Wellsville Publishing Co. was granted a contract Friday afternoon by the County Election Board to furnish party ballots for the May 6 primaries on its low bid of $45 per 1,000.

The only other offer was filed by the Tri-State Publishing Co. of Steubenville, which asked $48 per 1,000.

The board also awarded a contract to the Columbus Blank Book Co. of Columbus to furnish poll books for the May primaries and the November general election on its low bid of $26.25 per precinct. The only other offer, $27.90 per precinct, was filed by the Johnson-Watson Co. of Dayton.

The board granted May ballot places to virtually all candidates who filed petitions prior to the deadline Wednesday at 4 p.m. for primaries in East Liverpool, Wellsville, Salem and East Palestine cities and Leetonia, Columbiana and Lisbon villages.

The board said questions were raised over the legality of three of the petitions on the possibility the candidates may have voted in the primary of the opposite party within the preceding four years.

The board took the questions under advisement for further investigation and said it will rule by next Tuesday, the deadline prescribed in state law.

The state law says that: "No person shall be a candidate for nomination at a party primary if he voted as a member of a different political party at any primary election within the next preceding four calendar years."

Two of the questioned petitions were filed by Lisbon candidates and one was filed from Leetonia.

The board took no action on petitions filed by two Independent candidates, one for an East Liverpool office and one for a post in Leetonia. An Independent candidate bypasses the primaries and moves direct to the November general election, but must meet the same filing deadline as a party primary candidate.

Law allows the Election Board to wait until July 15, if it wishes, before passing on the validity of the Independent petitions.

FBI Assistance Asked In Probe

WOODSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Monroe County Sheriff Francis L. Sulberger Jr. Friday asked the FBI to assist in his investigation of a recently uncovered operation to display obscene matter and sell liquor to minors.

The setup was uncovered Saturday night when Sulberger and nine deputies raided a trailer home in the nearby community of Clarington.

Nine juveniles were arrested along with Melvin E. Dietch, 38, who allegedly ran the operation.

Dietch received two six-month jail terms and fines in Common Pleas Court Wednesday and was ordered sent to the Lima State Hospital.

Sulberger said he asked the FBI to enter the case after he learned that some of the estimated 200 youths who frequented the place during the past four to five years came into the state from West Virginia.

Sulberger said the trailer was rigged with a room built onto it and decorated like a speakeasy with a peephole in the door.

Deputies confiscated reels of obscene movie films, still pictures, books, cameras and movie projectors. He said cameras were used to take obscene pictures of both boys and girls who visited the trailer.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our husband and father, Omer E. Scott, who passed away February 8, 1964. He did not know when leaving home. He would no more return. That he in death so soon would sleep, and leave us to mourn. Today we look at your picture. So loving and tender and true. No wonder our hearts are broken. Thinking dear Omer of you. —Wife and Children.

We dedicate this poem in memory of William Edwards Travers, our beloved Husband and Father, who passed away a year ago the 9th of November. There will be no parting, no sigh to bear; No care-worn brow, no pain, no silvery hair; No death to snatch our loved ones from our side. No angry waves, no sea, no treacherous tide.

In heaven there will be no thirst, no cry for bread; No soul who knows not where to lay his head; No one to feel the winter's chilling blast; For there the piercing storms will all be past.

—Joan and Yolanda Travers

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Storing Wedding Veils

DEAR FOLKS: We asked you for ideas on storing and preserving wedding veils to keep them from yellowing, and you certainly had plenty of answers.

Most folks said to have wedding veils and gowns cleaned professionally and then to wrap them in black or dark blue tissue paper before placing them in a sturdy box. The box should then be SEALED well to prevent dust, air and light from entering.

If you don't have a real sturdy box, you might try, like one lass, sealing the gown and veil in a plastic foam chest after proper cleaning and wrapping. It's lightweight and provides good storage.

Of course, there are many dry cleaners who will preserve wedding gowns and veils professionally. But for those who wish to do their own, try the above suggestions.

And my blessings and love go to each of you sweet new brides.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Tell me, whatever happened to whistling? It not only improves the lines around the mouth, but lifts the spirits and makes the day brighter and cheerier.

JOY.

DEAR HELOISE: I had an old treadle sewing machine bought secondhand during the depression just after I married. My husband removed the machine part but left the foot pedal and wheel. I painted it and placed a big metal hot pad over the hole where the machine was and set my typewriter on top. (Any board could be used for this purpose.)

Now I have a place to put my feet and can even move them

up and down for exercise. Also have the lovely drawers for pencils, erasers, stamps, cards, clips, etc.

What a wonderful, and free, typing desk I now have.

MRS. EDWIN J. MURRAY.

DEAR HELOISE: A man's tie rack — the kind that fastens to the wall and spins — makes a super-duper pot holder rack!

MRS. JUDI GIDUS.

DEAR HELOISE: When I turn on my headlights on a rainy or foggy day, I quite often forget to turn them off when I leave the car.

To avoid running down the battery, I now keep a loop of red ribbon on the light button. When I turn on the lights, I transfer the bright ribbon to my arm.

When I leave the car, I, of course, notice this warning, and remember to turn off the lights which may otherwise not be noticed in daylight.

Sure saves the car battery.

HELEN LOTRECK.

DEAR HELOISE: I would like to pass on two hints I have used to make living a little easier for an arthritic.

First, the weight of the bed covers over my feet has been eliminated by using a bed rail (the type that slips in between the mattress and springs) across the foot of the bed.

The covers are then raised up over this rail and do not touch my feet. This has increased the number of hours I sleep in comfort.

Then my daughter-in-law gave me a cake of soap with a cord imbedded in it for my birthday. Now I can just put it around my arm and there is no danger of dropping the soap while taking a shower and having to stoop over to retrieve it. It is always in reach when I need it.

So nice.

T. M. JONES

DEAR HELOISE: Please remind "chapeaux" lovers that old lamphades (the small ones) make excellent hat stands in the closet.

They can be covered with adhesive-backed plastic or painted to blend with any color scheme if desired.

(Have you ever thought the very loaf of bread you bought yesterday IS one day old? Go look right now and see how fresh that still is!) Day-old bread is much cheaper.

In one year's time you probably will have saved enough money on groceries to pay for your freezer. We did.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Youth Robbed, Stuffed In Dryer

TITUSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Police say a 20-year-old youth is recovering from burns today after he was robbed and then stuffed in a heavy-duty dryer in a downtown laundromat.

They said Jerald Richard Kinney of Route 3, Titusville, was washing clothes at the laundromat early Friday when he was accosted by three men. They took his cash, police said, and then put him in the machine and turned it on.

Detectives said the dryer operates for 10-minute cycles and reaches a temperature of 205 degrees. They said a janitor heard Kinney's screams when he reported for work. He was taken to Titusville Hospital where he was listed in satisfactory condition.

Missing $400 Located In Probe At Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — A reported theft of $400 Friday night from a city service station was solved by police this morning when it was discovered the money was temporarily misplaced.

Scottie McIluff of Negley - Peace Valley Rd. reported to police last night the money had been taken from a box in the Mac's Pure Oil Service Station at W. Main and S. Market Sts. Investigation revealed this morning the money had been relocated in the station by another on the staff without advising McIluff.

Demonstrators Lash At Drug 'Informers'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — University of Pittsburgh officials have been urged to investigate claims that the FBI is paying student informers to keep tabs on drug and draft resistance activities on campus.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — Is there a way I can insure continuity of electrical contact between the sections of a telescoping "rabbit-ears" type of TV antenna?

A. — Yes — by painting the entire lengths of these arms with some silver or copper conductive paint.

Q. — How can I prevent my wire garment hangers from rusting clothes?

A. — By winding some cellulose tape around the hangers.

Q. — How can I make wall-paper washable?

A. — One often - successful way to do this is first to go over the paper with sizing, then with a clear shellac. A damp cloth will clean it easily thereafter.

Q. — How can I open hard-shelled clams easily?

A. — By pouring boiling water over them, and then allowing to stand for two or three minutes.

Q. — How can I remove ink spots from wood?

A. — Try using a mixture of equal parts linseed oil and vinegar, applying lightly to the affected surfaces. Many other such tips on the care and cleaning of woodwork are contained in my household book.

Q. — My needle seems always to stick when I sew on plastic materials. How can I remedy this?

A. — By rubbing some talcum powder on your needle.

Q. — How can I reclaim potato chips that have lost their freshness?

A. — Put them under the broiler for a few minutes, and they will usually restore their crispness. Be careful, though, not to brown them!

Man, 22, Sentenced On Assault Charges

LISBON — Terry Thompson, 22, of Center St., Wellsville, was sentenced Friday by Judge J. L. MacDonald in Columbiana County Southwest Court to concurrent sentences of three months in the County Jail on two counts of assault and battery on Paul M. Erwin of 216 Alton St., East Liverpool.

The affidavits filed by Chief of Police John Hepner of Wellsville state that both offenses occurred Feb. 5. One of the assaults took place in the Wellsville jail.

Erwin was transferred to Pittsburgh Wednesday after treatment at East Liverpool City Hospital for a possible fractured jaw and fractured skull.

Man Cut Above Ear When Car Hits Tree

LISBON — Kenneth W. Lanning, 48, of East Liverpool Rd. 1 received a cut above the left ear when the car he was driving struck a tree here at 11:20 p.m. Friday.

Police said Lanning was headed on E. Lincoln Way (U.S. Route 30) and ran off the right side near the Exchange St. junction. They said the driver told them he fell asleep. The front end of the 1966 sedan was demolished.

Robert W. Steele, 28, of North Lawrence, cited here this morning for speeding and passing at an intersection, forfeited a $15 bond on each count.

Camera Enthusiasts Hear Talk By Eckert

Don Eckert discussed the value and the proper contrast for black and white prints when the Tri-State Camera Club met Friday night at the gas company building in Glenmoor. He also recalled some of the area's photographers of the past. Slides were shown and recent trips reviewed.

Paul Ward presided.

Firm Granted Election Pact

The Wellsville Publishing Co. was granted a contract Friday afternoon by the County Election Board to furnish party ballots for the May 6 primaries on its low bid of $45 per 1,000.

The board also awarded a contract to the Columbus Blank Book Co. of Columbus to furnish poll books for the May primaries and the November general election on its low bid of $26.25 per precinct. The only other offer, $27.90 per precinct, was filed by the Johnson-Watson Co. of Dayton.

The board granted May ballot places to virtually all candidates who filed petitions prior to the deadline Wednesday at 4 p.m. for primaries in East Liverpool, Wellsville, Salem and East Palestine cities and Leetonia, Columbiana and Lisbon townships.

The board said questions were raised over the legality of three of the petitions on the possibility the candidates may have voted in the primary of the opposite party within the preceding four years.

The board took the questions under advisement for further investigation and said it will rule by next Tuesday, the deadline prescribed in state law.

The state law says that: "No person shall be a candidate for nomination at a party primary if he voted as a member of a different political party at any primary election within the next preceding four calendar years."

Two of the questioned petitions were filed by Lisbon candidates and one was filed from Leetonia.

The board took no action on petitions filed by two Independent candidates, one for an East Liverpool office and one for a post in Leetonia. An Independent candidate bypasses the primaries and moves direct to the November general election, but must meet the same filing deadline as a party primary candidate.

Law allows the Election Board to wait until July 15, if it wishes, before passing on the validity of the Independent petitions.

FBI Assistance Asked In Probe

WOODSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Monroe County Sheriff Francis L. Sulsberger Jr. Friday asked the FBI to assist in his investigation of a recently uncovered operation to display obscene matter and sell liquor to minors.

The setup was uncovered Saturday night when Sulsberger and nine deputies raided a trailer home in the nearby community of Clarington.

Nine juveniles were arrested along with Melvin E. Dietch, 38, who allegedly ran the operation.

Dietch received two six-month jail terms and fines in Common Pleas Court Wednesday and was ordered sent to the Lima State Hospital.

Sulsberger said he asked the FBI to enter the case after he learned that some of the estimated 200 youths who frequented the place during the past four to five years came into the state from West Virginia.

Sulsberger said the trailer was rigged with a room built onto it and decorated like a speakeasy with a peephole in the door.

Deputies confiscated reels of obscene movie films, still pictures, books, cameras and movie projectors. He said cameras were used to take obscene pictures of both boys and girls who visited the trailer.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our husband and father, Omer O. Dravo, who passed away February 8, 1964. He did not know when leaving home. He would not move return. That he in death so soon would sleep. And leave us to mourn. Today we look at your picture. So loving and tender and true. No wonder our hearts are broken. Thinking dear Omer of you. — Wife and Children.

We dedicate this poem in memory of William Edwards Travers, our beloved husband and father, who passed away a year ago the 21st. In heaven there will be no parting, no pain to bear. No care-worn brow, no sigh, no silvery hair. No death to snatch our loved ones from our side. No angry waves, no sea, no heaving tide. — Heaven there'll be no thirst, no cry for bread. No soul who knows not where to lay his head. No one to feel the winter's chilling blast. For there the piercing storms will all be past. — Joan and Yolanda Travers

MAYFLOWER

THE MAYFLOWER HAD A ROUGH PASSAGE FROM ENGLAND

ARRIVING AT PLYMOUTH, THE PILGRIMS GAVE THANKS TO GOD

COULDN'T WAIT

QUESTION: What happened to the Mayflower after it came to Plymouth?

ANSWER: All Americans revere the Pilgrims. Their motives in leaving the Old World for the dangers of a raw wilderness were based on a determination to live in a country where they could worship God in freedom. This has become one of America's most cherished conceptions. The Pilgrims left England in the Mayflower September 16, 1620, and had a rough passage over the Atlantic. They landed first on the tip of Cape Cod where Provincetown, Mass., now stands. Finding the soil too poor for settlement, they sailed west and arrived at Plymouth. The tradition is that they landed on the stone called Plymouth Rock (lower right). As to the Mayflower, we know it left Plymouth April 5, 1621, under command of Christopher Jones, who was captain on the voyage over, and also part owner. Jones died in 1622, but we do not know the Mayflower's further story. There is a tradition that it was sold for salvage, and that the hull was made into the roof of a barn. Recently, a replica of the famous little Mayflower was built and sailed across the Atlantic. She can be seen today in Plymouth, Mass.

6 Are Nabbed In Tunnel Bid At W.Va. Pen

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va. (AP) — Six prisoners attempting to tunnel their way through a West Virginia State Penitentiary wall were caught in the act Friday.

Warden Ira Coiner said prison guards, acting on a tip received several days ago, had been watching the inmates' progress until they moved into action.

Coiner said the six were nabbed while removing material from a 20-by-36-inch stone block on the prison's eight-foot thick third floor wall.

Three other convicts were implicated in the attempted escape, he said.

Officials said the 359 prisoners occupying the penitentiary's north wall through which the convicts were trying to burrow were evacuated and the building searched. Several tools were found.

The convicts involved were not identified, although authorities said most were serving long terms.

Farmer To Get Key Post In Nixon Administration

WASHINGTON (AP) — James Farmer, former national director of the Congress of Racial Equality and a supporter of Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey for president, is slated for a key post in the Nixon administration.

Welfare Secretary Robert H. Finch disclosed Friday that he plans to name Farmer, 49, to a post with far-reaching responsibilities in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. He did not specify the position.

Farmer is the first Negro named to a major post in the Nixon administration. Finch himself has said other prominent Negroes have turned down offers because they feared criticism.

Farmer resigned three years ago as head of CORE, a civil rights group that was in the vanguard of the struggle for Negro equality in the South during the early 1960s. In 1961 he led the Freedom Rides, which sometimes received violent receptions from Southern whites.

Last year he ran for Congress on the Republican-Liberal ticket in the heavily Negro Bedford-Stuyvesant area of Brooklyn, N.Y. He lost to Mrs. Shirley Chisholm, a Democrat and the first black woman ever elected to Congress.

During the campaign, Farmer endorsed Humphrey for the presidency.

Most of the assistant secretaries' posts in Finch's department have already been filled—at least the ones that would seem logical for a person with Farmer's background. However, there has been discussion of adding more undersecretaries, which would require congressional approval.

Some of Farmer's past statements bear a resemblance to Nixon's suggestions that industry could do much to help Negroes.

Jewish Leader Taken By Death

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Rabbi Harry Kaplan, director of B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation at Ohio State University since 1935, died Friday after a long illness. He was 68.

The widely known Jewish leader also was midwest regional director for the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation and a member of the National Hillel Cabinet.

He was a native of Minneapolis, Minn., and was graduated from the University of Minnesota. He was ordained at the Jewish Institute of Religion in 1927.

6 Are Nabbed In Tunnel Bid At W.Va. Pen

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va. (AP) — Six prisoners attempting to tunnel their way through a West Virginia State Penitentiary wall were caught in the act Friday.

Warden Ira Coirer said prison guards, acting on a tip received several days ago, had been watching the inmates' progress until they moved into action.

Coirer said the six were nabbed while removing mortar from a 20-by-36-inch stone block on the prison's eight-foot thick third floor wall.

Three other convicts were implicated in the attempted escape, he said.

Officials said the 359 prisoners occupying the penitentiary's north wall through which the convicts were trying to burrow were evacuated and the building searched. Several tools were found.

The convicts involved were not identified, although authorities said most were serving long terms.

Jewish Leader Taken By Death

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Rabbi Harry Kaplan, director of B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation at Ohio State University since 1935, died Friday after a long illness. He was 68.

The widely known Jewish leader also was midwest regional director for the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation and a member of the National Hillel Cabinet.

He was a native of Minneapolis, Minn., and was graduated from the University of Minnesota. He was ordained at the Jewish Institute of Religion in 1927.

Farmer resigned three years ago as head of CORE, a civil rights group that was in the vanguard of the struggle for Negro equality in the South during the early 1960s. In 1961 he led the Freedom Rides, which sometimes received violent reactions from Southern whites.

Last year he ran for Congress on the Republican-Liberal ticket in the heavily Negro Bedford-Stuyvesant area of Brooklyn, N.Y. He lost to Mrs. Shirley Chisholm, a Democrat and the first black woman ever elected to Congress.

During the campaign, Farmer endorsed Humphrey for the presidency.

Most of the assistant secretaries' posts in Finch's department have already been filled—at least the ones that would seem logical for a person with Farmer's background. However, there has been discussion of adding more undersecretaries, which would require congressional approval.

Some of Farmer's past statements bear a resemblance to Nixon's suggestions that industry could do much to help Negroes.
